NANAIMO IS IN GRIP OF TROOPS

More Members of the 88th Fusiliers Arrive in the City —Soldiers Are in Camp Near Railway Depot.

MOB WRECKS SEVERAL HOUSES AT EXTENSION

Strikers Loot Residences and Burn the Home of Mr. Cunningham—Raid Made at South Wellington.

NANAIMO, Aug. 15.—While this city is fully under military domination, trouble was reported from Extension, South Wellington and in the immediate vicinity of Cumberland.

More troops were added to the force here this evening, when thirty-three members of the 88th Fusiliers, who came with the troops from Victoria to Ladysmith this morning, were brought on to Nanaimo. All of that regiment in the field is now stationed here.

Tonight the troops here are under canvas for the first time since they arrived. Two carloads of camp equipment arrived on the evening train from Victoria. Camp has been pitched on the common adjacent to the depot.

It was intended that a force of men would march out to Extension this morning, but this was not done. Instead a draft was sent Ladysmith.

More Troops From Vancouver

Tonight a draft leaves Vancouver for here, and will arive early tomorrow morning.

The action of the authorities in closing all saloons in the city and throughout the district is most favorably commented upon. The order is being obeyed to the letter, and in consequence, despite the large number of idle men, there is practically no drunkenness whatever.

At South Wellington were Chinese, many of whom had, until recently, been working in the mines there. The strikers made a sudden descent on the Chinese quarters and, hustled the Celestials out of the village and into the country. All the Chinese, whether mine workers or not, were ordered to leave. A demonstration was then made through the town. A number of houses were damaged by a fusillade of rocks, as also a number of dwellings of non-union men.

A detachment of the Fifth Regiment, consisting of a part of No. 2 and all of No. 3 companies, ordered at noon today to go from Nanaimo to Ladysmith, was intercepted by telegraph, and half of it was stopped at South Wellington, where it is now stationed.

The presence of the troops put an effectual stop to the disorders there.

Houses Sacked at Extension

Extension was also the scene of trouble but owing to its recent experiences, but very few people were resident there, only a few white men and a few Chinamen.

A mob of strikers, 150 strong, marched out from South Wellington during the morning, and, after driving out about ten Chinamen, commenced wrecking some of the houses which the mob of Wednesday night failed to do. The residence of James Cunningham, which had been sacked and its contents wrecked and strewn about, was set ablaze and burned to the ground. A number of other houses, the majority of them untenanted since the trouble of Wednesday and Thursday morning, were sacked and a large quantity of furniture, including clothing, was stolen and taken away. When the news of these depredations reached the city, the mob had departed.

Provincial Chief Constable Stephenson and Constable Hannay, who were at South Wellington, rode over to Extension, but the looters had disappeared.

Great satisfaction is expressed here at the fact that troops have been sent by the Provincial authorities to outside points, such as Ladysmith and Cumberland.

Keep Depot Grounds Clear

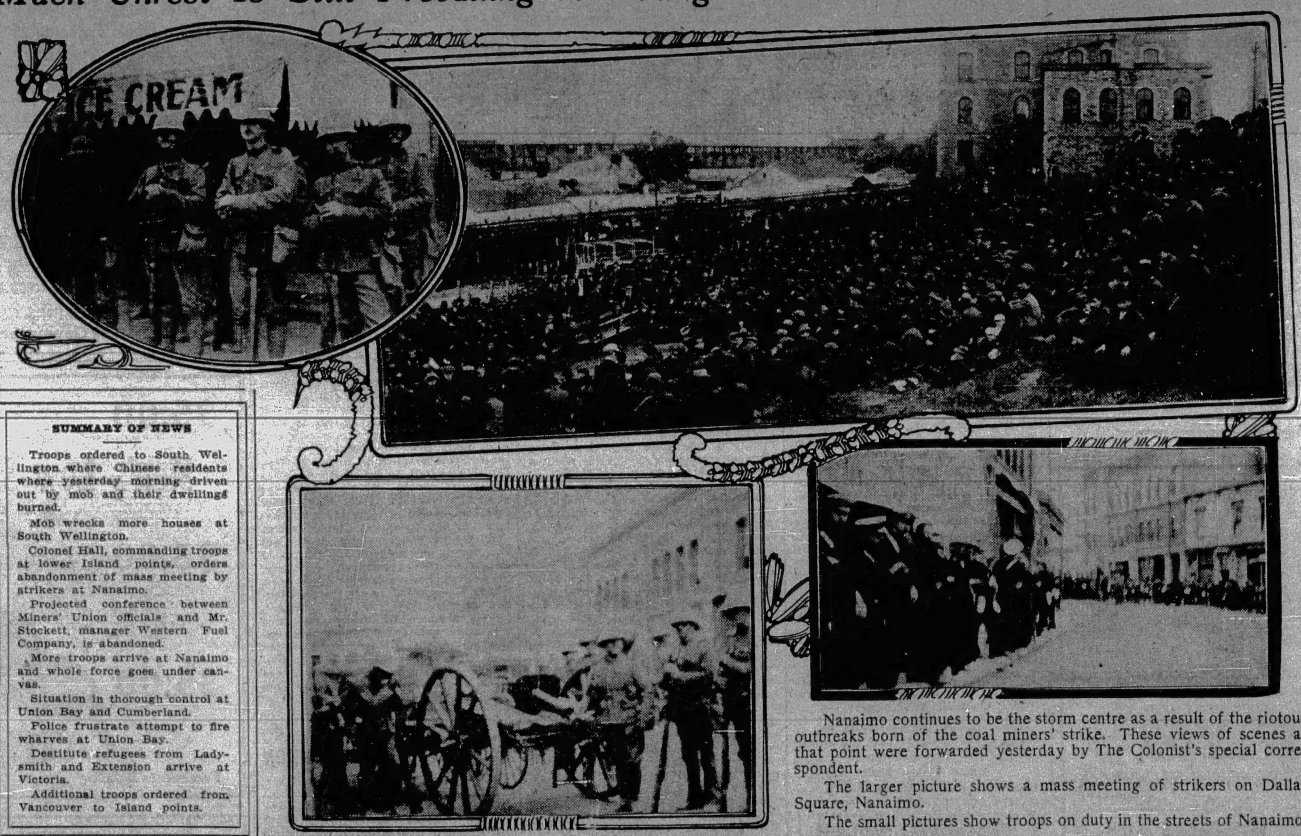

The refugees brought down from Extension yesterday by the troops, were sent through to Victoria on the regular afternoon train. A crowd of strikers was on hand to see them depart, but lines of troops on either side of the right-of-way kept the depot grounds cleared. Troops are stationed at the depot, and all trains are surrounded in order that the presence on board, of any non-union men or others objectionable to the strikers, may not be molested.

Nanaimo throughout the day has been exceptionally quiet and orderly. As the troops are moved to and from the depot in batches of fifty, for meals, the repeated appearance of the detachments marching through the streets is visible testimony to the citizens that order is and will be maintained.

The Herald, which, owing to the open threats of the mob on Wednesday afternoon last, against the lives of the employees and their families, was not published Thursday morning, resumed operations today. No paper was issued this morning, but an edition was got out this afternoon, and the regular morning edition will appear tomorrow.

MOB RULE ENDS IN NANAIMO CITY

Military Forces Under Command of Colonel Hall Now Have Complete Control of Situation There.

PUBLIC GATHERINGS HAVE BEEN PROHIBITED

Strike Committee, When Informed of Order, Cancels Meeting — Proposed Conference Fails to Materialize.

NANAIMO, Aug. 15.—The presence of the soldiers here has had a magical effect, and has completely quieted the situation. An instance of the entire control which the men under Colonel Hall's command have of the situation was given here tonight. The strikers' committee had called an open-air meeting for 6:30 o'clock, the ostensible purpose being to discuss the terms of the reported offered settlement of the strike difficulties with the management of the Vancouver-Nanaimo Mining Company, owners of the Jingle Pot mine. It was to have been the most largely-attended meeting of its kind held here for many months.

At 6 o'clock the following notice was posted at strike headquarters: "At the request of Col. Hall, the public meeting called for this evening will not be held."

Many strikers went to the scene of the advertised meeting, but strikers were on hand to advise them of the postponement. As a matter of fact, the strike committee has been clearly informed that no public gatherings of the kind will be permitted, at least for the present.

Deadlock Continues

Through the refusal of Mr. Thomas Stockett, manager here of the Western Fuel Company, to hold dealings with the committee of the striking miners because, contrary to arrangement, the latter insisted that Mr. F. Farrington, executive agent of the U. M. W. of A., should form one of the committee, the proposed conference was not held this afternoon. In consequence, the deadlock between the company and men continues as before.

The proposition for this meeting came from Mr. Stockett in the course of his remarks to the miners at No. 1 shaft on Tuesday afternoon. At that meeting he suggested that the men select a committee of seven men from among the employees of the company working up to April 30 to take up with him the question of a settlement, on the understanding that any agreement arrived at should be submitted to all the employees for ratification by secret ballot.

Mr. Stockett's Statement

This proposition was taken up by the men at a meeting yesterday morning and a committee of seven appointed. An appointment was made with Mr. Stockett for 3 o'clock this afternoon, but, in making the appointment, according to a statement made to The Colonist, a misunderstanding arose.

When the committee arrived at the company's office it was accompanied by Mr. Farrington. Mr. Stockett was prepared to meet the committee appointed by the men, but he would not meet Mr. Farrington.

There was some discussion as to the course to be pursued, but finally the committee took the ground that if Mr. Stockett would not receive them accompanied by Mr. Farrington, they would not meet him. Mr. Stockett refused to move from his original proposition, with the result that no meeting was had.

In a statement to The Colonist, Mr. Stockett said that he was very sorry that there should have been any misunderstanding about the appointment arranged. It is well known that the company's proposition has always been one of dealing directly with the company's employees. As a matter of fact, the company had no employees at the present moment, but for the purpose of arranging a settlement they were willing to assume that all the men working for them up to April 30 were employees. Owing to the fact that Mr. Farrington accompanied the committee, there was no meeting. He was extremely sorry for this, and the management regretted the impasse just as much as the men themselves.

LOCAL ARCHITECT IS SUCCESSFUL

Mr. Loring P. Rixford Submits Most Suitable Plans for the New Provincial Royal Jubilee Hospital.

It was reported at a meeting of the Provincial Royal Jubilee Hospital Board, held last evening, that Mr. Loring P. Rixford, a Victoria architect with offices in the Sayward Block, has submitted the plans considered the most suitable for the new hospital building it is proposed to erect on the site of the present structure. In accordance with the terms of the competition, it is expected that he will be awarded the position of supervision architect forthwith, with instructions to lose as little time as possible in calling for tenders.

With the directors at their business session was Mr. J. D. Atchison, architect, of Winnipeg, the assessor chosen to judge the plans placed in competition. He is the designer of the Winnipeg General Hospital, which is being completed now, and has had considerable experience in the line of work upon which he was called on to adjudicate. His attendance was the result of a special request in order that, with the submission of his report, the members of the board might hear any verbal explanation he might have to offer, and that he might answer personally any questions asked.

Mr. Atchison stated that fifty sets of drawings had been laid before him, all of which complied with the requirements set forth. Many, he said, were of exceptional merit, and he had been confronted with somewhat of a problem in selecting those which, in his judgment, were the best. However, after a careful study of the requirements on the one hand and the plans on the other, he had reached the following conclusions:

1. Mr. Laring P. Rixford, 220 Sayward Building, prize $1,500.

2. Somervell & Putnam, 908-910 London Building, Vancouver, prize $1,000.

3. James & Davidson, 503-4 Northwest Trust Building, 539 Richards St., Vancouver, prize $500.

Each of these architects, Mr. Atchison added, evidently had made a particularly careful study of the problem placed before them. They had had in mind the necessity of so arranging the building as to assure convenience and efficiency of administration. Also they had painstakingly investigated the design of hospitals of the most modern type. He congratulated the board on the success of the competition in that so many designs of a meritorious character had been contributed from which to make a choice.

Mr. Atchison's report was adopted, the award being made as recommended.

MARKING GRAIN CARS

Chairman Drayton of Railway Board Replies to Application by Grain Commissioners

OTTAWA, Aug. 15.—In a memo written before his departure for England and made public today, Chairman Drayton, of the Railway Commission, deals with the application of the board of grain commissioners for an order directing railways to stencil their cars. After stating that the object of the application is entirely laudable, as such stenciling of freight cars would enable the farmer to more accurately gauge the amount of wheat shipped in his car and to more intelligently advance claims against the company for shortage of grain, Chairman Drayton proceeds:

"There is no doubt at all as to the loss of grain in transit, and further, no question but that a railway company should recompensate for this loss and, whatever regulations can be adopted which would make the handling of grain more accurate undoubtedly would be proper. I am afraid, however, that stenciling the cars in characters would merely lead to contention between shippers and carriers without arriving at any useful conclusion."

REFUGEES COME FROM LADYSMITH

REFUSAL OF MAYOR TO READ RIOT ACT

Intimate and distressing aspects of the strike were set forth in the city of Victoria last night by the arrival of a large contingent of the non-union men and their families from Ladysmith and Extension.

From Extension there were about a dozen families, ranging in age from ten months upwards, and in each and every case they stood clothed in all their worldly possessions, the remainder, the savings of a lifetime in some cases, and the accumulations of labor in others being absolutely lost forever.

Nothing quite so striking or so effectual in bringing home the harrowing circumstances of the strike could have been imagined as the sight of the men, women and children, wrapped in the idle and comfortless garments of the unguarded moment, enjoying the first period of rest, peace and security that has come to them for many days.

They came down from Nanaimo on the evening train, and were met by officers of the Provincial police, and at once taken to a suitable place of shelter. After partaking of a meal the men of the party gathered together and dis-

There has been some looting in Nanking, but foreign property has not been touched.

NEW GRAIN ELEVATOR

Montreal Harbor Commission Taking Steps to Increase the Storage Facilities of Port

MONTREAL, Aug. 15.—A new grain elevator, especially for export trade, will be built by the harbor commission. It will have a capacity of nearly 3,000,000, thus bringing the capacity of elevators of the port to 10,762,000 bushels.

Although the site has not been decided upon, it was announced by an official of the harbor commission that the new elevator will be situated in the East End in such a way that boats can be unloaded on one side and loaded on the other. The grain congestion in the harvor has abated considerably.

Dominion Geologist Sends Report on Shushanna Discovery—Gold Has Been Found on Four Creeks.

SUPPLIES NEEDED IN NEW DISTRICT

SKAGWAY, Aug. 15.—Hon. J. D. Hazen, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, arrived here yesterday and sailed south last night.

Mr. Hazen received the following telegram from Commissioner Black, of the Yukon:

"Dr. Cairnes, Dominion geologist, who has returned from White River and the Shushanna district, reports that the new strike is undoubtedly rich. The known area is of necessity limited. Gold has been found on four creeks. The formation is good for the deposit of gold. The claims extend to the Canadian side. All the Cairnes party staked claims.

"I have approved the custom proposal to expedite the movement of goods into the Shushanna district, where they are greatly needed. Strongly advise against men going in without adequate supplies. Please give publicity to this information."

MAITRE LABORI GUEST OF HONOR

Famous French Advocate Entertained by Canadian Club at Vancouver—Speaks of Dominion's Prosperity.

VANCOUVER, Aug. 15.—Dominion Hall was crowded at the Canadian Club luncheon today to do honor to Maitre Labori, and enthusiastic was the welcome to the man who is best known for his part in righting the great wrong inflicted on Dreyfus.

Maitre Labori was greeted with intense enthusiasm, and when silence at last came he made a brief statement in French, and then with laughing allusion proceeded to reiterate what he had said in English.

He would, he said, like to talk to them about their own country and the great Mother Country; and especially the entente cordiale which is the greatest factor for the peace of Europe and throughout the world. The French people, he said, were beginning to know Canada seriously, because Canada was forcing itself on the mind of the world by the immensity of its general prosperity, a prosperity the future of which was guaranteed and most striking.

Two great emotions had overcome him in Canada. One was when he had landed in Quebec. There he had met France again, old France with her splendid qualities, but made young again by the life of the new world. The second was when here in British Columbia, and especially Vancouver, he met Great Britain again.

British Influence

They were the two countries of the world for which he had the greatest feeling of affection. France first, because that was his country, and he knew his hearers would agree with him that it was the greatest centre of culture and art. Great Britain, he said, was so powerful in herself and so powerful by her expansion in territory and expansion in industries, and her maritime ascendency dominating the world. She had set the marks of her

GUARDING AGAINST PLAGUE-LADEN SHIPS

Province Issues Regulation Providing Measures for the Landing of Suspected Vessels at This Port.

The following regulation has been passed by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council in order to protect the city from infection by plague-infested vessels plying to the port of Victoria. It appeared in the current issue of The Provincial Gazette.

1. All vessels arriving at British Columbia ports from ports infected or suspected of being infected with bubonic plague shall conform to the following regulations:

(a) Vessels shall be moored or docked at a distance not less than six feet from wharf or land.

(b) Ropes or chains connecting a vessel with wharf or land shall be protected by funnels of size and shape satisfactory to Local and Provincial Boards of Health.

(c) All gangways shall be lifted when not in use. Gangways when in use shall be guarded against the exit of rats by a person specially detailed for this purpose.

(d) All vessels changing route to solely British Columbia ports shall give satisfactory evidence of disinfection and extermination of vermin to Provincial Board of Health.

2. Every owner, agent, or captain of any vessel, and every other person violating or instructing, authorizing, ordering, permitting or otherwise suffering any person to violate any of the foregoing regulations shall be liable, upon summary conviction before any two Justices of the Peace, for every such offence to a fine not exceeding $100, with or without costs, or to imprisonment, with or without hard labor, for a term not exceeding six months, or to both fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the convicting magistrates.

cussed their various experiences, and in most cases it appeared that the utmost hardship had been undergone.

Fled to the Bush

From the general conversation it was gathered that Extension was one of the leading storm centres of the strike zone. One of the young men of the party, a mere stripling, clothed in the semi-detached manner peculiar to mine workers while above ground and in repose at home, declared that the rout of the workers from the Extension mines was the most cowardly feature of the whole strike.

"It was about 4 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon," he said, "that the strikers arrived in a body and commenced burning our houses and shooting us up. We didn't have a chance to pick up a thing, however precious—and at this moment the only thing of value I possess is my gold watch—but simply had to race for the bush, with the bullets flying thick and fast around us. Once I was under cover I daren't move. On one occasion I did so and had to drop immediately as a bullet whizzed past my ear, and as I touched the ground another shot plugged into a tree just behind me. It was the escape of my life.

"I was out in the bush all night and the next day until the afternoon, when the soldiers came to our relief. Before we left I saw that our old home was razzed to the ground. It was horrible. Nothing was left at all, and we had a lovely home and kept a herd of chickens and a couple of pigs. Father and mother came down with me and I daren't look at them for fear of the thoughts that will overcome them.

An Infant Refugee

On entering another room The Colonist representative was met by a large-eyed young woman bearing a ten-months-old child in her arms which was crying most insistently.

"Yes," she said, in answer to the mute inquiry of he eyes, "he was there too. Baby and I had to flee for our very lives to the bush when the strikers came along and fired our house. They would not stop at anything, and, in fact, it was clear that they wanted to kill.

"With my husband and my infant I spent the day and a night in the bush. Don't ask me to speak of it. I have often heard of strikes, but I never thought I would be in one.

"When I was running away with my baby in my arms the women and girls of the strikers laughed at me and called me a 'scab.' O, it was terrible. And when the soldiers came the next day and relieved us the strikers who were still on the scene watching for us hid their rifles and pretended that they were doing no harm."

This woman's husband sat back in a chair, hollow-eyed with long anxiety, and obviously overcome with the relief that he was experiencing from the awful situation.

Miner Dares Strikers

"One man who dared the strikers to the limit was Jim White, a mine worker," said another of the refugees. "The strikers were firing the homes of the workers, and already a number were in flames, and they made for his place to treat it similarly. Clothed in his shirt and trousers, White came to his doorway with a Colt revolver in his right hand, and dared them to fire his home. 'You can riddle me with bullets if you want to,' he said, 'but the first man who tries to fire my home, dies. I'll get one of you before I go to my account.' And the strikers backed away, cowed by the display of wonderful bravery.

"Later on the strikers captured White and took him as a prisoner to the house they had ransacked, and he was only relieved yesterday by the soldiers together with one or two others who had defied the strikers. When I saw White last he was in a terrible condition."

Homes Ransacked and Robbed

Terrible accusations of theft and robbery against the strikers was made by a woman member of the party of refugees. She asserted that, after being driven from home without anything in the world, she went back with the soldiers and found that her house had been ransacked and that everything of value had been stolen. "All the things of value we had in the house were gone, and that included a little jewelry and one or two trinkets. The rest was destroyed. I wanted to get my new shoes to come to Victoria in tonight, but when I looked for them they were not to be found. Now I have nothing, nothing in the world."

I. W. W. Are Accused

Since the inception of hostilities, it has been strenuously denied that the I. W. W. organization had anything to do with the strike, but The Colonist gleaned from conversations with a number of the men from Extension last night, that the I. W. W.s were surely in the field. As one of them said "the ringleaders are absolutely unknown to us. They never worked with us, and certainly are not of us, and the only conclusion we can come to, is that they are I. W. W.s If they were only members of the miners' union we would know them, but we don't."

Several of the men declared that, upon arriving in the city, the first people they set eyes upon were strikers, the latter having apparently come down from the scenes of trouble on hearing of the military invasion.

Old Residents Ordered Out

The refugees who came from Ladysmith yesterday included many of the oldest residents in the city, property owners who were given orders, they say, repeatedly yesterday morning to get out within twenty-four hours or pay the penalty of disobeying with their lives. Many of them have come away without any funds, in a destitute condition, and are being provided for by their friends.

One of them stated last evening that some twenty-five came in on Thursday in consequence of the same threats. The remainder, relying on Mayor Hiller's promise that he would read the Riot Act as soon as the troops arrived, decided to stay, but on the arrival of the troops from Victoria at 4 a. m. yesterday the Mayor refused to read the Riot Act, though repeatedly asked to do so by all classes of the community. They then felt it was no use to rely on the magistrates, who were by their refusal nullifying the effect of the presence of the troops in the city, and they accordingly left.

This same eye-witness, when told that the story is being spread about in Victoria that the injury to Mr. McKinnon on Tuesday night was not done by strikers says that he was in the house opposite when the outrage occurred, and was one of the first to reach the injured man three minutes afterwards. His theory is that Mr. McKinnon, hearing from his own room the thud of the missile in his children's bedroom, rushed in, picked up the stick of dynamite and turning ran out to the kitchen intending to throw it out of the kitchen window. This he judged from the fact that when he found Mr. McKinnon he was lying in the doorway into the kitchen, facing the kitchen window, and that most of the injury to the house was done in the kitchen. From this he inferred that it was while Mr. McKinnon was crossing the kitchen to the window that the explosion occurred blowing him back into the bedroom doorway.

At Point of Gun

Another resident in Ladysmith who got away the previous day stated last night that the mine officials were forced out at the point of the gun, and with threats that they would be blown up unless they got out, which they did by the train on Wednesday morning. The threats were made by officials of the United Mine Workers of America, who for ten days previously had been preaching force as the only argument. Another official of the U. M. W. of A. announced publicly in the open street four weeks ago that they were about to do something that would stagger the community.

Going back to the events of Tuesday night, the same speaker stated that a large number of men were forced to barricade themselves in the Temperance hotel against a body of strikers, and that among those shut up was Mayor Hiller, who was thus prevented from summoning the troops on that night. The attacking mob attempted to throw sticks of dynamite into the windows, and he saw with his own eyes one stick miss the window of a room in which were twelve men, strike the wall and fall to the ground outside, where it exploded.

Strangers Invaded City

The mob is stated to have been chiefly foreigners, and the speaker, who had lived for years in Ladysmith, states that during the last weeks 200 strange faces have been seen in the streets whom no one had ever seen before. The police, he says, acted under the mob's orders, and the city police are known to be strongly in sympathy with the strikers and under no condition, had they even the power, is assistance from them to be looked for. On Tuesday and Wednesday the telephone wires were tapped and all messages sent by the mine officials were known at the Union headquarters within ten minutes.

Both the above speakers in no way attribute the present state of affairs to any lack of action on the part of the troops, but lay the responsibility on the Mayor.

More Troops

Early this morning a further contingent of troops were to reach Nanaimo from Vancouver, consisting of 150 of the 6th Regiment and fifty men of the 72nd Seaforth Highlanders. Captain Bray, of the Ordnance, went up to Nanaimo yesterday in charge of equipment and supplies of blankets, some of which will be sent on to Cumberland for the use of the 72nd, already there. The Victoria Corps of Guides, which is commanded by Lieut. Peters, has also been warned to hold itself in readiness to start tomorrow if called upon.

Aeroplane Fatality

LEPSIC, Germany, Aug. 15.—Herr Ruetger, a passenger in an aeroplane driven by Aviator Rompler, was killed here today when a sudden gust of wind caused the machine to turn over. The aeroplane was flying at a height of thirty feet when the accident occurred. Rompler was not injured.

ASHCROFT HOSPITAL OPEN FOR PATIENTS

Hon. Dr. Young, Provincial Secretary, Visits Mainland in Order to Perform Inaugural Ceremonies.

Hon. Dr. Young, Provincial Secretary and Minister of Education, left the capital yesterday for Ashcroft, where he has an engagement for this evening in conjunction with the inaugural exercises of the new hospital, which has just been completed. The Minister is taking the trip specially for the purpose of performing the opening ceremony, and expects to be back in the city tonight or tomorrow morning.

Eight months ago the hospital project began to take tangible shape, through the assistance of the Provincial Government, and last night it was thrown open for usage. The building, which is fitted up in the most approved fashion, and has accommodation for nearly fifty patients, is the result of considerable effort on the part of the residents of the district for a considerable time prior to the commencement of building operations.

Over a year ago the demand for a medical institution of some kind became insistent on account of the greatly increasing population, and also on account of the fact that the hospital nearest to Ashcroft is located at Barkerville, which is many miles distant. Also, there is a great deal of railway construction proceeding in the district, and it was felt to be imperative that a hospital should be erected on the ground in order to handle with proper care and expedition any cases of disease or accident that might occur. Consequently the residents finally got together on the subject and decided to take the matter in hand definitely. They organized a subscription fund, which, when added to by the contribution of the Provincial Government, proved adequate for the purpose, and the effort now finds its complete expression in the finished structure. In all it is estimated that the sum of $12,000 was spent upon the institution, and residents declare that no similar sum of money was ever better spent.

CLAIMS EXTEND INTO THE YUKON

ditions in the Upper White River, near the international boundary, arrived at the mouth of the White River yesterday from the head of that stream in a small boat and accompanied by Jimmy Kingston, an old-timer of the district.

Dr. Cairnes reports that 1,000 ounces had been taken out by the discoverers at the time of leaving the Shushanna diggings, six days ago. Fifty men a day were arriving at the diggings from various directions. Kingston brought some gold from the Coarse Money Gulch.

A letter received here states that pay-dirt has been found on some of the benches as well as creek bottoms, and is rich.

Horses are selling in the Dawson market at $175 to $300 each, the price depending on their size and condition. Hay and oats here are now at $60 per ton, owing to the rate war on the Yukon between the transportation companies.

Bound for Goldfield

CORDOVA, Alaska, Aug. 15.—The Copper River & Northwestern Railway sent a special train yesterday morning from here for McCarthy with eighty-two stampeders, several cars of horses and freight. A large number of stampeders are awaiting the arrival of the La Touche, which will arrive Saturday with fifty-six horses. Another train will leave today.

Some of the recent arrivals here will return to the United States on account of the lack of supplies and money, and a few because of reports that the principal creeks are staked.

MOB RULE ENDS IN NANAIMO CITY

No Settlement

The deadlock arising from the failure of these negotiations was to have been discussed at the proposed public meeting of union men, but Colonel Hall's action in preventing the assembly blocked this plan of the strikers.

While rumors are current to the effect that a settlement has been arranged between the Vancouver-Nanaimo Coal Company and the striking miners, no acceptance of any terms so far offered by the company has yet been given.

Mr. Harry Freeman, manager of the mine here, arrived back from a trip to Victoria, and it was stated he had the agreement as approved of by his principals. He was closeted with the strike leaders tonight, but no definite announcement was forthcoming.

Union men point out that even if the terms of the company's offer are accepted, the agreement cannot come into effect and work at the mine be resumed unless the other mine owners accept like terms and take back all men on the same basis. The terms of the agreement are said to be recognition of the union, a 10 per cent increase in wages and what is technically known as the "check-off"—that is, the employers make the monthly collection of union assessments and deduct them from the wages.

It is expected that a definite announcement will be made tomorrow.

Two Killed by Lightning

POPULAR PARK, Man., Aug. 15.—While milking in their barn on a farm about sixteen miles northeast of Selkirk, M. Kostuk, a Galician, and his wife, were killed when lightning struck the building during the storm about 7:10 last evening. The burned bodies were found by the neighbors later.

BRITISH COLUMBIAN WRITER'S SUCCESS

Miss Constance Skinner Wins Prize for Song in Bookman Competition—Author Well Known Here.

In the prize competition for the best lyric offered by The London Bookman, the first prize has been increased and divided between two competitors. Miss Constance Lindsay Skinner, a Canadian writer of plays, short stories and poems, receives half the prize awarded by Sir William Robertson Nicoll, LL.D., editor-in-chief of The Bookman publications, for her song, "Song of Cradle-Making," and honorable mention for her "Song Primitive." The former, or prize poem, is published in the August number of The Bookman, just issued.

The songs are in the bardic or folk-song manner, the "Song of Cradle-Making" being the utterance of an Indian mother on the British Columbian Coast as she weaves the cradle for the child that is coming.

"Song Primitive" is a hymn to the dawn by the wanderer in the outdoors. Some may see a touch of heredity in this, as the Lindsay clan have in all generations contributed to Scotland's folk-songs. Lady Ann Lindsay, a great aunt of Constance Skinner, wrote the well-known ballad, "Auld Robin Gray." Another circumstance of interest is that Charles Reade, the famous novelist, who was one of the founders of The Bookman in London, or at least was identified with the parent publication early in its career, was a cousin of Constance Skinner's father.

It is often said that it is very difficult for artists of the new world to obtain recognition abroad. It is rather interesting, in consequence, to note that this is not the first time a degree of recognition has been accorded to Constance Skinner. When musical critic on a paper in Los Angeles, California, her descriptive analysis of the symbolism of "Parsifal" was translated by the editor of the principal musical periodical in Berlin and printed in his publication with high praise.

Miss Skinner's novelette, "Builder of Men," which appeared first in an American magazine, has been translated into German by a German novelist and issued in Berlin.

Her short story, "Give Hand and Follow," in August Ainslee's has received a good deal of attention from the American and Canadian press for the novelty of its theme and the vigor and poetry of its treatment.

Miss Skinner's father was Mr. R. J. Skinner, for twenty-two years Provincial timber inspector for British Columbia. Her relatives in Victoria are Mrs. John Stevenson and her daughters, Mr. E. M. Skinner, long of the Government survey, Miss Mary Skinner, Mrs. Albert E. McPhillips, Mr. Alex. Lindsay and Mrs. W. P. S. Porter.

NANAIMO IS IN GRIP OF TROOPS

Officials Confer

Contrary to the expectation last night, the Provincial Police authorities took no action against any individuals involved in the recent strike troubles here, but Mr. T. B. Shoebotham, acting for the Attorney-General's Department, has been in close conference with Chief Constable Stephenson, and the Attorney-General's Department has been kept advised of every feature of the situation.

Information received at midnight tonight by the Provincial Police authorities, from Union Bay and Cumberland, state that since the arrival of the Vancouver military consignment there early this morning, there has been no trouble, and the situation is being thoroughly controlled. Many rumors of strike disturbances at that point were circulated here, one to the effect that the Trent River bridge had been dynamited. This is incorrect.

During Thursday evening, when trouble was brewing, the white strikers and sympathizers, threatening to raid the quarters of the Chinese and Japanese mine workers, the firm attitude of the Provincial Police cowed the unruly element. An attempt was made to fire wharves at Union Bay about 1 a. m. this (Friday) morning, but the police charged a gang of strikers, and captured two foreigners, who are held there in custody. The fire was put out before any damage was done.

Force From Vancouver and North Vancouver Embark on Steamers en Route to Island

VANCOUVER, Aug. 15.—Leaving armed guards in the two city barracks, nearly 200 men from Vancouver and North Vancouver corps early this morning left on the Princess Patricia under sealed orders. Major Hulme is in command of the party, and Sergeant-Major Heritage, of the 6th Regiment Reserves, now commands in the city. A maxim gun is held in readiness to quell any rioting started in Vancouver.

At 11 o'clock last night fifty men from the Army Service Corps, under Major More and Lieutenants Perry and Weir, and eighteen of the Highlanders, under Captain Hamber, with twenty of the Canadian Engineers, marched from the Highlanders' barracks to No. 2 shed, where the Princess Royal was docked.

After they had waited an hour in the shed, the Princess Patricia came in with a crowd of excursionists, and the soldiers paraded to shed No. 1 and embarked, amid hooting and yelling on the part of the Socialists gathered in a body on the wharf.

As soon as the Princess Patricia passed the Brockton Point Lighthouse, the 6th Regiment corps left the drill hall and marched by way of Pender, Seymour and Cordova Streets to the wharf. Their appearance was greeted with renewed derisive shouts, but no attempt was made to molest them. At 12:20 all the corps had filed on board.

The Canadian Field Engineers is the newest corps on the Lower Mainland, and they have been ordered out to build small bridges across creeks near Nanaimo.

The men who struck last night on the Princess Patricia were said by one of the Canadian Pacific Coast Steamship Service officers to have gone back to work. When the vessel docked last night she seemed to carry her usual equipment of able seamen.

A small guard now remains in the Highlanders' bararcks, commanded by Capt. Merritt. In the drill hall the reserve force is much larger. There was said last night to be a possibility of trouble and Sergeant-Major Heritage is holding himself in readiness to meet any emergency. "We have a strong guard left yet," he said to The Colonist representative, "and, in the event of trouble, we will use the maxim gun."

MONEY FOR CALGARY

Mayor Sinnott Has Received Unsolicited Offers of Loans Amounting to $2,000,000

CALGARY, Alta., Aug. 15.—Unsolicited offers have been received by Mayor Sinnott to loan the city $2,000,000. One tender came from England by cable offering $1,000,000, while a similar tender was received by wire today from New York City. The British offer cannot be accepted as the city is under an ironclad contract with the Bank of Montreal for the placing of all bonds which it may offer for sale in the United Kingdom, but it is probable that the New York offer will be accepted.

Funds for Railway in China

PEKIN, Aug. 15.—A Belgian syndicate signed today with the Chinese minister of communications an agreement for a loan of $50,000,000 at 5 per cent interest in connection with a new railroad to be constructed in the Provinces of Shan Si and Sze Chuen. The cabinet approved the transaction, which, however, has not yet been submitted to the Chinese parliament.

TO MEET AT PROVIDENCE

International Typographical Union Selects Convention City for 1914—Reorganization Proposal Defeated

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 15.—The "Seattle plan" was not approved yesterday by the delegates to the fifty-ninth annual convention of the International Typographical Union. The plan was voted down by the decisive vote of 207 to 27.

It provided for an election to determine whether the governing powers of the I. T. U. should be taken from the executive council of three and vested in a board of directors consisting of twenty members, to be elected from certain prescribed districts. It meant the complete reorganization of the governing power.

Another important action was the selection of Providence, R. I., as the convention city for 1914.

KEEPING THE PEACE

The Attorney-General refused to accept the offer of the miners' union to preserve the peace at the coal mines. Herein he was perfectly right. The state cannot give up to any organization within it the sovereign right involved in keeping the peace. Least of all can it do so when the organization asking to be allowed to do so is controlled from another country.

It cannot be too soon understood that the laws of Canada are made and administered by the duly constituted authorities of this country and not by anyone else. The Colonist has never raised any objection to men combining themselves together for the advancement of what they consider to be their individual rights. We have very frequently borne willing testimony to the good work accomplished by labor unions. But we have asserted, and we repeat, that sovereign rights in this country can only be exercised by the Government of the country, and we add that to delegate those rights to any organization, no matter how strong or influential it may be, is something which no Government ought for one moment to contemplate. It is easy to imagine conditions under which it might be expedient to permit private organizations to co-operate with the established authority in maintaining the peace, but such conditions do not exist at the present time in Vancouver Island.

A GREAT OPPORTUNITY

People must eat. Whatever else they may do without they must have food. Yet it is an amazing fact that never was the proportion of producers to consumers as low as at the present time. If the centralization of the population in the cities continues long at the present rate, the problem of feeding the people will become exceedingly serious. But, as people must eat, it will be solved in some way. Herein is a splendid opportunity for the right kind of people. Farming ought to become the most sought-after of all occupations. The time is not far away when it will be. Let no one make any mistake about that.

Farming in the future is not going to be what it used to be. Let no one make any mistake on that point either. It is going to be something else besides self-sacrifice and hard labor. The farm has been slow to feel the impulse to progress that has marked every other field of labor, but its turn is coming. Why do not young men stay on the farm? is a question on which yards and miles of newspaper articles have been written. There are many answers to it, and it is not worth while to go over any of them today, for what we have to say is that the time is coming when there will be some inducements for the boys to stay at home, instead of rushing into the cities to slave out their lives for other people.

The opportunity to which we refer is that of getting in a position to take some part in feeding the hungry millions. We are not going to take the case of any individual and undertake to advise him what to do. We are only directing attention to a great and undeniable fact, namely, that the demand for food products is rapidly increasing, and the number of producers is not keeping pace with it.

PRACTICAL EDUCATION

Said a profesional man the other day, "Why do not our city schools teach the pupils how to write an ordinary business letter? Why do they not give them an education that will be sufficiently practical that they can be relied upon to copy a document with at least a rudimentary idea of what it is about?" He went on to tell how he had to have his typist make several copies of a document before she could get a correct one, because she insisted in writing words that sounded like those in the original, but had no sense at all in the connection in which she used them. He says that there is much ground for many such complaints.

Our personal experience does not enable us to express any opinion on this point, but a similar complaint has frequently been made to us. We hardly know what remedy to suggest, but it is certainly beyond all question that a pupil who has graduated from the High school ought to know how to write a letter, and know that precedent and president are different words. In view of the complaints referred to, we suggest to the school authorities that the matter may be worth a little inquiry, and that, if a real evil exists, means should be taken to remedy it.

It is much more important that a clerk in an office or a counting room should be able to write a business letter or add up a column of figures correctly than to be able to tell how often Henry VIII. was married or how far it is to the moon. It is much more important to be able to copy a document with some intelligent comprehension of what the language means than to be able to analyze a sentence according to the latest tom-fool notions as to the construction of sentences. We had occasion to look over a modern grammar the other day, and undertake to say that Shakespeare, Milton, Addison or Macaulay could not have scored 3 out of a possible 100, if they were set to answer an examination paper on it. Possibly a little more of practical instruction in English and a little less theory might not be amiss.

THE C.N.R. AND THE I.C.R.

The question of conceding running rights over the Intercolonial Railway to the Canadian Northern Railway is likely to come to the fore at a very early day. No doubt the C.N.R. would be very glad to take over the Government road, and probably some strong arguments could be advanced in favor of such an arrangement, but we greatly doubt if the people of the Maritime Provinces would be willing to give it serious consideration. It may be a matter of some difficulty to adjust the requirements of the third Canadian transcontinental line with those of the Intercolonial, but it would be better to make some compromise rather than compel the construction of a fourth line of railway across New Brunswick from north to south. That Province is about 150 miles wide from east to west, and three lines of railway traverse it in a generally north and south direction, namely, the Canadian Pacific, which is nearest the United States boundary, the National Transcontinental, which crosses the Province through the centre in a general northwesterly and southeasterly direction, and the Intercolonial, which is not far from the eastern shore of the Province. Other lines penetrate the relatively narrow spaces between these through lines, and there is really no new field for a new railway to occupy. The Canadian Northern will require a line to the Atlantic seaboard, and will want to get into Nova Scotia, where the Mackenzie & Mann interests already have considerable railway mileage. In addition to the requirements of this company, the Canadian Pacific is likely to ask for a renewal of running rights over the Intercolonial from St. John to Halifax. It enjoyed these at one time, but one of the first acts of Mr. Blair, after he became Minister of Railways, was to cancel the contract under which these rights were given. Mr. Cochrane, the present minister, has a question ahead of him that will put his admitted business ability to a severe test.

A LESSON FOR CANADA

The British Consul-General at New York has issued a highly interesting report for 1912, the most striking statement in which is that the United States is not now in a position to feed its own people and that the power to feed the world has passed from that country. He points out that the reasons for this change are manifold. It is due to the increasing population of the States, the rush from the country to the towns increasing the number of consumers and decreasing the producers. That, further, the increasing value of land makes it more profitable to use it for other than agricultural purposes, and that closer settlement is yet another factor that has brought about the condition to which he alludes. He quotes figures that bear out what he says. For instance, during the period 1902-1911 the exports of wheat products dropped from over 234,700,000 to 69,300,000 bushels. Imports increased from 120,000 to 1,100,000 bushels, whilst production decreased by over 113,300,000 bushels. In milk and dairy products exported during the same period and as well for the year 1912 there was an enormous decrease in the exports of live animals, bacon, cheese, beef (canned, fresh and salted), pork (canned, fresh and pickled), butter and condensed milk. He points out that the decreases in some cases are very marked and are almost consistently more rapid of late years. On the other hand, the imports of foodstuffs have steadily increased. The import of live cattle has risen from 94,000 in 1902 to 180,000 in 1911; of macaroni from 28,000,000 pounds weight in 1903 to over 114,000,000 pounds in 1911; cured herring from 42,000,000 to 79,000,000 pounds; butter from under 500,000 pounds weight to over 1,000,000 pounds, cheese from 17,600,000 pounds weight to nearly 46,000,000 pounds, and mackerel from 23,500,000 pounds weight in 1905 to over 35,000,000 pounds in 1911.

The foregoing figures would indicate that as the United States grows it is becoming proportionately less and less of an agricultural country, a condition that before many years have passed by must give rise to some alarm unless remedial measures are adopted. In this phase of her progress there is a warning for Canada to which those in authority would do well to give heed. Already in many parts of this country there is a tendency on the part of newcomers to flock to cities. As cities grow this condition is certain to become more emphasized unless the conditions and opportunities of rural life are rendered more attractive. It is this problem that is now confronting many of the Old World countries, and unless it is grappled with at an early stage in the Dominion it is one that must grow more burdensome as time progresses.

A CASE OF PUNCTURE

A lady, Miss Mary Jobe, has been telling the New York papers that she is going to make a very wonderful trip into "the inaccessible wilds of Northern British Columbia." On the strength of this very complimentary things have been said about her, and her reputation has been swollen to monumental dimensions in advance of her achievement. This has led Miss Constance Skinner, of New York, a native of British Columbia, whose literary wrok has won her fame, to puncture this wind-bag by her pen, and she did so in a letter to The New York Times, which was as follows:

I have been interested in the announcement, in the New York papers anent Miss Mary Jobe's intended trip to Northern British Columbia and Alaska; but I feel it is an injustice to our northern pioneer women to let pass, uncorrected, the statement that Miss Jobe will be "the first white woman to visit the land of the Eskimo and these inaccessible wilds of Northern British Columbia."

My mother was a pioneer of Northern British Columbia, my father being the Hudson's Bay Company's officer of a trading post, and I was born and brought up in those "inaccessible wilds." We knew women, the wives of trappers and prospectors, who went with their husbands much further North than we had gone, even to the moss marshes and snows beyond the mighty Peace River.

My mother's sister, wife of the captain of a whaling fleet, holds the female record for penetrating the Far North, although she has never published the fact. She spent three years in the Arctic Circle, taking her little girl with her. The natives had seen few white men and no white women. She traveled as far north as several of the male explorers who have missed the pole. They were walled into the circle one year by the ice at the mouth of the Straits. The third year their ship was swallowed up under the ice, but all on board escaped and, after months of terrible hardship, reached open water and were taken aboard by another whaler.

Somewhere in that white waste of Eskimo land is the beautiful daughter of a titled English family. She gave up "the world" and her fine talent in music to follow her husband, a young churchman, who felt himself called to the missionary work there. There are other women, some delicately nurtured, as this missionary's wife, who have followed their men in exploring, fur trading, missionizing and gold mining all through the country which Miss Jobe will traverse. They have lived there and borne their children there, hundreds of miles from any other "whites," their only neighbors, if they had any, being the simple, kindly natives. Miss Jobe will find her path secure and her welcome warm wherever she meets a human being, which would not be the case if she were "penetrating" New York City for the first time.

There is much to do, to enjoy, to learn and to win in the wonderful Far North; but it has not been left for the young femininehood of this generation to be "the first" in any part of it. The Intrepid Woman has already written her history there.

JAPAN'S RECORD TRADE

Some conception of the manner in which Japan is forging ahead can be gathered from the trade returns of that country. The returns of 1912 are 20 per cent greater than those of the preceding year. In 1912 the total export and import trade of Japan amounted to $584,024,290 as compared with $490,632,700 in 1911. Imports amounted to $315,933,975 and exports to $268,980,315. From all accounts the progress made will compare more than favorably with that of any other nation, for it may be mentioned incidentally that during the year the national debt of the country was reduced by $15,595,797. But while this progress has been made in trade there are apprehensions among Japanese economists at the continued excess of imports. In this respect raw cotton and metals have led the way with conspicuous increases, while the import list on the whole shows an increase in raw materials and semi-manufactured articles.

The factor that is said to hamper the country in the chance of competing with her goods with the rest of the world is the high cost of production. Although it is known that Japan is a country of low wages and long hours, in spite of these the amount of work got through probably costs more than in the United Kingdom or other countries where labor is far dearer. From this it may be suggested that there is a certain indolence among Japanese, but it is difficult to imagine how this can be if we recall the exertions of the immigrants from that country who have come to Canada. There must be other underlying reasons for the proportionately small output that economists have as yet apparently been unable to fathom, for in nearly every other branch of human endeavor Japan is forging ahead at a rate that will compare favorably with any other nation.

If we judge from appearances, the futurists and cubists in art are "lasting quick," as the Frenchman said of his soup.

The London Daily Telegraph speaks of Prince Arthur of Connaught as "one of the ablest and most highly regarded of those who bear the responsibilities of royal blood in Europe."

We are inclined to think there is a great deal in the suggestion that the Provincial police should be put in uniform. It ought not to be so, of course, but it is true nevertheless that a uniform carries with it an atmosphere of authority.

We do not like to detract from good things said about this Province, but when we read that in British Columbia we have no extremes of heat or cold, we feel we ought to say that the writer of it has never lived in the Okanagan Valley in Summer or in Cassiar in the Winter. This is a very big Province. Victoria is in the latitude of Paris. The northern boundary of the Province is in the latitude of St. Petersburg.

Japan is straining every effort to be in a position to take advantage of the new trade routes developed by the opening of the Panama Canal. Her largest steamship company is to have ten new large passenger and freight steamers, varying from 10,000 to 17,000 tons each. They will operate through the canal on the round-the-world service. The expansion of the Japanese mercantile marine is one of the most remarkable developments of the world's shipping during the last few years.

Our friend, the Vancouver World, thinks that "British Columbia, from one end to the other, should be aroused" on the court house question. We fear the task will be too great even for our energetic contemporary. Outside of Vancouver there does not seem to be any one who takes even an academic interest in whether or not the site of the old court house in that city is sold to the city, and though The World may not believe it, there are a very considerable number in the Province who could not find the site if they started out to look for it.

Very keen anticipation is expressed concerning the nature of the address which Sir Oliver Lodge, president of the British Association, will deliver to that body when it meets on September 10. It seems to be expected that Sir Oliver will direct the attention of the association to new lines of investigation, and will review the whole field of scientific research, drawing, possibly, some conclusions that will be striking in their nature. The time seems ripe for a new deliverance upon the fundamental principles of science. There has been nothing of the kind since Darwin and his contemporaries startled the thinking world with their deductions.

We think our evening contemporary is quite safe in assuming that The Colonist believes British trade never was as prosperous as it now is and that the markets of the United Kingdom are open to imports from everywhere. That is what we said, and it may be taken for granted that we know what the words meant. We would be obliged if our contemporary would devote a little of its valuable space to explaining what this reference to The Colonist means: "It gives the direct means by which Great Britain has achieved commercial prosperity over the rest of the world and inferentially stated that without that factor British trade would be better than it is." Analysis of what we did say does not help us to understand what this means. Our contemporary says that "an admission that the development of British trade is almost wholly due to individual effort is tantamount to an endorsement of the basic principle of free trade." This is exceedingly far-fetched, seeing that the whole point of our article, to which our contemporary refers, was to point out that a demand has arisen in the United Kingdom for the establishment of a Department of Commerce in order that individual efforts to discover new avenues of trade may be supplemented by official action.

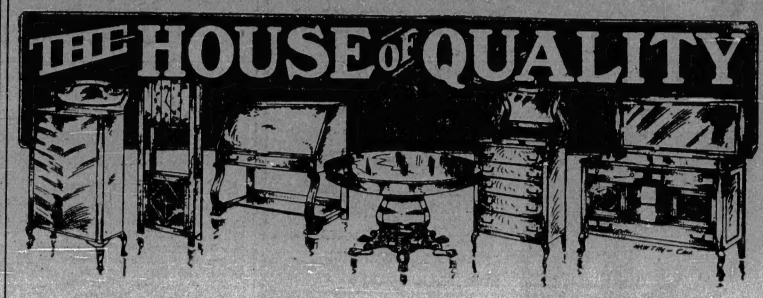

AWARD IS PRESENTED

Board of Conciliation in B. C. Electric Arbitration Forwards Report to Ottawa

It was ascertained yesterday that the recommendations of the board of conciliation, recently appointed to consider the terms of agreemnt between the B. C. Electric and its railway and shop employees, covering wage schedules and working conditions, had been received.

Mr. Justice Murphy, chairman of the board, has announced that the full report had been sent to the Dominion authorities. He suggested that it would be fitting if both the company and the employees' associations deferred comment on the matter until the report was presented through the Dominion officials.

In accordance with the request of the chairman of the board, it was ascertained that the company had no statement to make on the subject of the award at the present time.

MODERN THOUGHT AND ITS INFLUENCE

Several Papers on Religious Topics Read at Theological Conference—Final Sessions Held Yesterday.

The Theological Congress resumed session yesterday morning, the Bishop of Columbia's closing address being on "The Redemptive Character of God." The Bishop pointed out that the agony of Christ in Gethsemane was the result of nothing less than the world's sin entering in by way of sympathy. After dwelling on the old controversies of Athanasius and Arius in regard to the fact of redemption, he asked his hearers to hold fast all that was vital in the old dogmas.

A most lucid and interesting paper on "The Bible in Relation to Modern Thought," was given by Rev. Dr. Adeney. The time had passed, he said, when the Bible was the final court of appeal to be used by means of a piling up of isolated texts. Once the science and history of the Bible seemed as infallible as its religion and morals. Geology was the ungodly science, and later evolution met an equally severe judgment. But the new historical method was displacing the old oracular one, clear, crisp and convincing as it had seemed to be. The significance of the new method he illustrated by Abraham's contemplated sacrifice and the extermination of the Canaanites. The crown and flower of the Bible was the New Testament, of which Christ was the centre. The Old led up to the New. The fact of Christ was the root of Christian doctrine. Without this there was no understanding Paul's experience. It was the impact of Christ which had turned Saul, the Pharisee, into Paul, the Apostle. Paul was the greatest interpreter of Christ. The New Testament, as men's guide in social and moral problems, did not give them a code of ethical precepts. That was the fallacy of Scotsy. But it did quicken conscience by its spirit. Christ spoke of wealth as desirable, but a hindrance, and offered his best things to the poor. He insisted on the fundamental doctrine of doing to others as they would have them do, to be applied to business life as much as to professed charities. The terrible social conditions today stood condemned by the whole spirit of the New Testament.

Modern Criticism

Rev. G. D. Ireland spoke on the relation of the pastor to modern criticism, and reviewed the great changes which had taken place in Great Britain, Germany and Canada in regard to heresy trials. He held that for the existence of a really Catholic body of men, there must be comprehension and recognition of different viewpoints. The real point for agreement was religious experience, the dyamic enabling them to overcome sin, and have communion with God. Between ministers themselves there must be courtesy and respect, the spirit of Catholicity. The great aim should be to enable men to meet materialistic philosophy and to emphasize the essential faith in God and their Lord Jesus Christ.

After luncheon Dr. Adeney spoke a few parting words, which were warmly received, expressing his pleasure at the spirit manifested in the Conference.

An able address on "The Church and Socialism," by Rev. G. K. Bradshaw, B. D., of the Sixth Avenue Methodist Church, Vancouver, was the feature of the afternoon session.

There seemed to be a good deal of vagueness in the current use of the term "Socialism," said the speaker. A recognition of the social problems and a desire to find a solution for them did not necessarily imply that one was an orthodox Socialist. At first the conception of socialism was communistic, now it was collectivist. There has also been a modification in the methods of Socialism. At first it was revolutionary, now it was evolutionary.

The practical problem of social well-being increased with the development of society, which had been called a "progressive organism." The relation of the individual to society was fundamental. The individual needed the social environment for development. Man could make national advancement only in the social order. When the question was asked whether Christ was individualist or Socialist, the reply could be given that He was both, and more. It must be remembered that He did not come to establish a political or social programme. He came primarily to reveal God anew to the race, and to bring men back to God. In His day He seemed careful to avoid in His teachings, statements concerning political and social programmes, evidently on account of the false notions which obtained concerning Messiahship.

Divine Fatherhood

His great truth of the Divine Fatherhood carried with it the implication that all human souls were the sons of God, no matter what their color, class or creed might be. Hence, they were called upon to respect the sacred rights of every man, and to reverence personality in every man. The treatment of men as tools and means for selfish ends in industrial and social life was a contradiction of Christian individualism. It was neither in the best interests of society, nor of the individual that any man should expect more from others than he was willing to give. The Golden Rule forbid human selfishness. Jesus Himself recognized the authority that then existed in State and the Church. He asserted the duty of paying tribute to Caesar, and paid the temple tax. Yet He dared to tell Pilate, the representative of Caesar, that he was subject to a power greater than that of Caesar. He also challenged the scribes' loose interpretation of the divorce law, and upheld the inviolable sanctity of marriage and the home. And yet even the interests of the home were to be subservient to the interests of the Kingdom of God.

Every state was concerned with an economic policy. The present economic problem was due largely to the radical industrial changes that had taken place during the past century. There had been nothing short of an industrial revolution, caused mostly by the development of steam and electrical powers, the rapid extension of foreign commerce and the inventions of modern machinery. In the old days manufacture and agriculture were closely allied. Little capital was required, and the employer of labor wrought with his employees as their leader and director. With the rapid growth of foreign commerce, great companies began to spring into existence. Capital began to assume a dominating position, the difference in social status between employer and employee widened, and the sympathetic touch of earlier days was lost. The laborer became more dependent and subservient.

It might be questioned whether beyond a limited extent the present economic and industrial order would permit of the exercise of the teaching of the Sermon on the Mount. The issue was a moral one. It was not merely a question of capital and labor, it was a question of capital versus manhood. The church must demand, if she be true to the principles of Christ, that all the resources of the social organism ought to minister to the free untrammeled development of moral personality. It was a question of the selfishness of the few being permitted to thwart the free mental and moral development of the many. The present problem of poverty was not only a question of hunger, nakedness and homelessness, but an opportunity for recreation for mental and moral culture, proper family conditions and social intercourse. Poverty was in many cases directly due to the present economic conditions. Disease and death followed in its wake.

Present-Day Conditions

Present conditions, declared the speaker, tended to make the poor poorer. They could buy but in small quantities, and consequently had to pay the biggest prices. Irregularity of employments begets the habit of indolence, and sometimes the unemployed became the unemployable. Worst of all, there was a moral degradation consequent upon such conditions of life. When the spirit of independence was broken men became more easily the victim of vice. In the case of women, the lack of means to appear well had often led to crime and to the pathway of shame.

The speaker sketched a vivid picture of the luxury and extravagance of the rich, in contrast to the penury of the poor, pointing out that the man or woman who could spend huge sums of money on entertainments or personal adornments while such poverty existed, were a scar and a blemish upon the face of their civilization. They were not only not Christian, they were scarcely human. Let them contrast this state of affairs with John Wesley, who in making his return of plate to the Commissioner of Excise, said: "Two silver spoons in London, and two silver spoons in Bristol, and I shall not buy any more while so many around me want bread."

To meet this problem of poverty the church had encouraged private and public philanthropy. But all these agencies, good as they were, did not begin to grapple with the problem of poverty nor to rectify industrial conditions.

It seemed to him that the church ought to foster such organization of labor and capital as might increase production. It was in the interests of both employers and employees that there should come relief from the present competitive individualist industrial system. The present economic system must go if Christianity was to develop freely. The church must challenge the present social order in the interests of moral manhood, though he was not prepared to say that the church must become Socialist in order to "make the kingdom of this world the Kingdom of Our Lord and of his Christ." The concern of the church was with the moral issue primarily. The Christian church had had its years of repression, concluded the speaker. It had mourned the wooing away from its fold of the great masses of laboring men and women by a force that seemed atheistic, alien and hostile. It turned with increasing fear towards the contemplation of depleted statistics, and feared that the breach between it and the laboring class was not to be speedily healed. Socialism was becoming Christian. He believed it was destined to become a mighty force, working in harmony with the Christian church for the enthronement of the Redeemer and the making of "the kingdom of this world the kingdom of our Lord and of His Christ."

Modern Church

Rev. Prof. Pidgeon, of Vancouver, spoke on "The Church for Today." He said that it was commonplace to say that the successful fisher of men must go where men were, but how was it that many preachers on crowded street corners attracted but few hearers, while the anarchist of would-be anarchist speaker drew a crowd around him? After pointing out the extremes of license and asceticism in the early church, he said that no attempt would be made to return the church to its old state, which it could no more re-enter than a half-grown bird could re-enter its shell. He pointed out the steps taken by the church today. Everywhere emphasis was laid on the fact that physical sin meant spiritual death. He thought that one of the things needed in the church in Canada today was to emphasize the supernatural power of Christianity.

At the evening meeting Dr. Ernest Hall gave an interesting lecture on "The Church's Duty in Regard to Moral Regeneration."

Rev. W. H. Vance afterwards dismissed the gathering with the blessing, and the conference was at an end.

Visits Ladysmith—The Bishop of Columbia will leave today for Ladysmith, where tomorrow he will hold a confirmation in St. John's Church, of which Rev. F. L. Stephenson is the rector. His Lordship expects to pay a brief visit to Nanaimo on Monday, returning to Victoria on the afternoon train.

Supplies Condemned—As a result of an inspection of supplies returned from the Sooke camps, a quantity of canned goods and vegetables has been condemned by the city health officers. The contract is held by a local grocery firm, which blames the city for issuing orders direct to wholesale firms.

Professor Tweedie Coming—Professor W. M. Tweedie, of Mount Allison University, New Brunswick, is paying a short visit to this Coast. He is the guest of Mr. S. D. Scott, at Vancouver, and will visit Victoria, where he will find many former acquaintances among the New Brunswick colony here.

Unclaimed Prize—The lion-tamer of the Carnival parade was awarded a prize, which, it is reported, has not been claimed. Mr. J. B. McCallum, secretary of the committee in charge of this feature of the celebrations, wishes it announced that the award awaits him and will be forthcoming on application at 1366 Pandora Avenue.

Chinaman Killed—The body of a Chinaman named Ying Hong, who was crushed by a log at Shawnigan Lake on Thursday, while working for the lumber company of that place, was brought to the city yesterday. The deceased was 22 years old, and is survived by a wife. An inquest was held at Shawnigan, when a verdict of death through accidental causes was returned.

Tramway Service—Because of the improvements to the Government Street block pavement between Fort and Yates Streets, the Oak Bay, Willows, Uplands and Fairfield cars are being turned at the corner of Douglas and Fort Streets. Notices to this effect have been posted in prominent places by the B. C. Electric Railway Company. The new order will remain in effect until further notice.

Jail Committee—On Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock members of the City Council special committee appointed to report on the building inspector's plans for the extension and the improvement of the local police quarters will hold a meeting. It is understood that on this occasion the proposals will be gone into thoroughly, and that on the result of this discussion will depend the character of the recommendation submitted to the Mayor and Aldermen.

School Accommodation—Apropos of the re-opening on Monday week of the public schools for the Fall term, it is improbable that the four tents at Kingston Street, North Quadra, Boys' Central and the Children's Aid Home will be removed till the weather gets colder, as the extra room is badly needed. When the schools re-open the extra accommodation at the Boys' and Girls' Central buildings will be available, the five rooms having been added during the holidays.

Bankers' Trust Case—It was expected that the application of creditors and shareholders for the dismissal of Mr. J. E. Allen, as liquidator of the defunct Bankers' Trust Company, would be heard by Mr. Justice Morrison in supreme court chambers yesterday, but, owing to the exceptionally heavy list for consideration, it was not reached. The matter will come up next Friday. In this connection it is understood that three Victoria firms propose applying to have their names struck from the petition on the ground that their signatures were obtained by misrepresentation.

Probate of Wills—A number of wills were admitted to probate by Mr. Justice Morrison in supreme court chambers yesterday. That of the late W. H. Moore was handled by Mr. Gribble, of Moore & Gribble, the application being granted. Mr. A. J. Patton represented the heirs of the late Mr. A. C. Weston, and was successful in securing the necessary order of the court. Probate also was granted of the wills of Thomas H. Tighe and William Stewart, the respective counsel being Bodwell & Lawson and Mr. A. D. Crease. Letters of administration of the estates of the following were allowed: R. B. Isbister, counsel Mr. J. H. Austin; G. H. Duffield, counsel Mr. T. H. Twigge; W. H. Goodeve, counsel Mr A. D. Macfarlane; F. D. Stevenson, counsel Eberts & Taylor.

To Exhibit Cats—Mrs. Florence R. L. Barton, secretary-treasurer of the Victoria Cat Club, is busy these days making arrangements and attending to the details of the cat show of the Vancouver Exhibition, to be held the week of August 30 to September 6. She asserts that, unless all signs fail, the exhibition will have the best display of cats to be seen in Western Canada. In all twelve cups have been donated, and special prizes and medals will be awarded in all classes in the show. Some of the most famous cats in North America will be exhibited. Although Victoria will have the largest number of exhibits, with Vancouver a good second, Vancouver Island, Seattle, Portland and the Interior will be well represented.

Minister's Reception—At a meeting of the harbors and navigation committee of the Board of Trade held yesterday morning matters relating to the reception to be tendered Hon. R. Rogers, Minister of Public Works, were considered. While the question of what will be the character of the representations made to the Minister on Victoria's behalf with respect to the harbor and other works, proposed and under way, was discussed, there is nothing yet for publication. The consensus of opinion was that the banquet to be given in Hon. Mr. Rogers' honor next Wednesday night would be a splendid success if the general interest already evidenced continues. Tickets, which are selling at $10 each, may be obtained from the secretary or any of the reception committee members.

Marking of Fruit—The Dominion fruit inspectors of Victoria again call the attention of the wholesalers of the city to an amendment to the Inspection and Sale Act of 1912 enforcing certain alterations in the marking of fruit which are to be rigidly enforced from now on. Especial stress is laid on the following regulation: "Every importer of fruit or his representative shall cause all closed packages containing such imported fruit to be marked or branded in a plain and legible manner in letters and figures not less than half an inch long, the proper grade marks on the left, the correct name and variety on the right and below the name and address of the importer." The erasure of all other marks is to be done at the time when the package is being taken from the conveyance in which they are brought into Canada.

Patriotic Ball—The Patriotic Ball Committee held a business meeting yesterday, with Mrs. M. Jenkins, Municipal Regent, in the chair, at which the financial affairs relating to the ball given in honor of the visit of H. M. S. New Zealand, were satisfactorily terminated. It was found that receipts and expenditures exactly balanced. Warm votes of thanks were given to Mrs. G. H. Burns, Mrs. W. G. Horne, Mrs. MacFarland and Mrs. Hassell for much time and attention given to this service; to Mrs. W. J. Roper, Mrs. Conyers Bridgewater and Miss Harris, for work on special committees. Mrs. Bridgewater's graceful tribute in dedicating a waltz of her own composition, to the visiting battleship, and which was included in the ball programme, was also noted. Thanks were also given to Colonel Currie, Capt. Harris and men of the 5th Regiment; to Colonel Hall, Capt. Byng-Hall and men of the 88th Fusiliers, and to the Boy Scouts; to those gentlemen who so kindly acted as stewards, to the B. C. Electric Railway, for granting a special car, and to Mr. H. C. Hanington, Dr. W. E. Horne, Mr. G. H. Burns and Dr. E. E. Hassell, for most kind offices.

Must Find Sureties—The hearing of the application made by Mrs. Cheke Okomoto to have her husband, from whom she has been separated for over four years, bound over to keep the peace, was proceeded with in the police court yesterday morning. It was as a result of an assault made upon her by Mr. Okomoto on Wednesday night, when she was returning to the Linden Avenue home where she is employed, that the complaint was laid. The husband took the stand on his own behalf and gave a rather involved account of the trouble. He claimed that there was no reason why he should annoy Mrs. Okomoto. If she wanted a separation it was his intention to allow her to obtain it, or get it himself, in accordance with the divorce laws of this country. Friends at home had advised him not to worry—that they would find him another wife. "Very accommodating of them, I'm sure," observed the magistrate. The court accepted the statements as to Mr. Okomoto's treatment of his wife, and explained that it would be necessary for him to furnish bonds to the extent of $500 in two sureties of $250 each as a guarantee of his good behavior, or spend three months in jail.

Allowed to Marry—Three Japanese couples applied for the authority of the supreme court to enter the holy bonds of matrimony yesterday. Their petitions came before Mr. Justice Morrison in chambers. Miss Kazu Yomo made affidavit that she is 18 years of age, that her parents are residents of Hiroshima Ken, Japan, that she arrived in Victoria by the SS. Seattle Maru on August 6, and that she made the trip with the consent of her folks to marry Mr. Yuichi Furukawa, a seven-year resident of British Columbia, whose home now is at North Arm. It was explained by Miss Hara Nishida that she also is 18 years of age and came to this city in company with Miss Yomo. Her parents are of the same district. She came to join her fiance, Mr. Masato Tsukamoto, of Vancouver, whom she had known for six years and wished to marry. Miss Kikuno Oga gave her age as 20 years and some months, and her home as Okayama Ken, Japan. She was another passenger by the SS. Seattle Maru, and her prospective husband is Mr. Asahei Oga, of Vancouver. The applications were granted in all three cases.

DEFENDER OF DREYFUS IS TO VISIT VICTORIA

Famous French Lawyer and Publicist Who Is Now at Vancouver Is Coming to Capital City.

MAITRE LABORI

Maitre Labori, lawyer and publicist, defender of Zola and Captain Dreyfus—a round whose rugged and striking personality the politics of the French Republic raged for more than ten years—is now in Vancouver. The visitor, who is president or batonnier of the Paris bar, will visit Victoria before returning to Montreal, where he has accepted an invitation to address the American Bar Association at its annual meeting there, beginning September 4. The Montreal Bar Association is to tender him a banquet the preceding evening.

The distinguished lawyer is accompanied by Madame Labori, three daughters and his son-in-law, Mons. Adrien de Pachmann, a young barrister, and Madame de Pachmann. They traveled west after being entertained as guests of honor at a round of functions and banquets in the city of Quebec, Sir Lomer Gouin, Premier, being one of the hosts. Stops were made at various points, including Fort William, Winnipeg and Banff. Madame Labori is a charming matron born in Australia of Irish parentage. She has won great fame as a composer. Her latest opera, "Yhato," was produced at Monte Carlo last March, and will see its first presentation before a Paris audience at the Opera Comique this Fall. In Fort William she met, after many long years, her sister, Mrs. Wilfrid Ryan, wife of the manager of the Union Bank of Canada.

Size Impresses Him

"I am enchanted, simply enchanted, with all that I have seen since my arrival in this great country of yours," said the famous lawyer in an interview at the Mainland city. Great difficulty was experienced in inducing Mr. Labori to talk about himself. He showed a preference to sound the praises of the Dominion as a wonderful young nation with a great destiny.

Over six feet in height, possessing a ruddy complexion, with a boyish appearance, despite his fifty odd years, Maitre Labori typifies the educated and progressive Frenchman. Of marvellous magnetism, he impresses the interviewer as a man of singular strength of character—a man who has the ability to become a leader of his fellows in any walk of life. He speaks excellent English, with a slight accent.

Maitre Labori attained world-wide fame for his defence of Emile Zola and Captain Dreyfus, a French officer of Jewish nativity. The story of both is well known. He secured a rehearing of the Dreyfus case years after Dreyfus had been degraded and banished. The case divided France into two hostile camps, and for over ten years Labori was the central figure. His greatest achievement was the acquittal and vindication of Dreyfus in 1906. At the Zola trial, Mr. Labori was wounded, and had a close call as the result of a murderous attack. The visitor declined to discuss French politics, beyond declaring that the French Republic is more stable than ever and that the breach resulting from the Dreyfus case was gradually healing. In regard to the separation of church and state, he thought a truer spirit of conciliation, arguing well for France, now prevailed.

Mons. Labori is a big, broadlgauge patriot, whose legal talents have won him great distinction. He has fought many fights in freedom's cause.

The visitor also spoke warmly of the entente cordiale between England and France, declaring that King Edward's memory would long be revered in France, and declaring that the fact was a great factor in preserving European peace.

Bridge Builder Passes Away

NELSON, Aug. 14.—After an illness of only a few days Mr. Jacob Serson, Provincial superintendent of bridges and a resident of Kootenay for nearly thirty years, died last night in Nelson hospital. He was about 69 years of age.

OBITUARY NOTICES

BALFOUR—The death occurred yesterday morning at the Jubilee Hospital of Baby John Balfour, the three and a half-months old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Balfour, of 476 Burnside Road.

Births, Marriages, Deaths

MARRIED

KING-MASON—On Monday, August 11, 1913, at Christ Church Cathedral, Victoria, B.C., by the Very Reverend the Dean of Columbia, Phyllis Irene, youngest daughter of the late Georg Edward Mason, to Reginald William Henry King, of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, eldest son of Dr. King, Compton, Quebec.

NEWS OF THE CITY

Leave Granted—An application was made on behalf of Mr. H. Brethour, of Sidney, in supreme court chambers yesterday to take action against the Bankers' Trust Company, Ltd., now in liquidation. It was allowed.

Request to Boatmen—Boatman are requested not to meddle with the flags outside and inside the harbor, which at night are replaced by red or white lights, as they are for the Northwestern tide tables.

St. Aidan's Picnic—On Tuesday of this week the people of St. Aidan's Church, Mount Tolmie, held their annual Sunday school picnic at Mount Douglas Park. Automobiles belonging to residents of the district conveyed the joyous children to the beach. All enjoyed the outing and the sports, and all were impressed with the beauties of Mount Douglas Park, which will eventually be Victoria's greatest park.

Business Houses Handicapped—Some business houses in the city are badly handicapped through the summoning of the militia to Nanaimo. Many clerks in local banks and offices have hurriedly been summoned from their duties and hastened to the scene of the riots. The local post office has suffered, inasmuch as five letter carriers and one clerk have been called to aid in suppressing the riots. Postmaster Noah Shakespeare stated yesterday that the mails cannot be delivered as expeditiously as before, as new men have to be called in while the others are absent. It is hoped that the public will bear with the present conditions until the riots are over and the militia return.

Teaching Staffs—Among the changes which will be seen in the principalships when the public schools open for the Fall term will be the reappearance in his former capacity of the principal of the George Jay School, after a rest for ill health. Mr. McLean will be heartily welcomed back, his interest in the leading public school of the city and in athletics having won him many friends outside the immediate circle of the school. The acting principal, T. W. Hall, goes to the new Burnside School, and one of the first assistants, H. Charlesworth, is promoted to a principalship at the new Oaklands School. The teaching staff at the Chinese School is also to be strengthened by the appointment of two new teachers.

Would Block Action—Mr. Arthur Kennington and eleven others made application before Mr. Justice Morrison in supreme court chambers yesterday for an order prohibiting Messrs A. E. Watts and Augustus Conney, justices of the peace for the County of Kootenay, from proceeding with an action against them. In their petition it is set out that the information is laid by Mr. Clement S. McCormick and that they are charged with using violence to endeavor to force him from Salmo, B. C. The date of the occurrence is given as July 18. The ground on which their request is based is that they appeared before two justices of the peace on Wednesday, July 30, in answer to the same charge, and that, as Mr. McCormick nor his counsel did not attend, they were dismissed.

Forest Fires Out—After a busy two weeks, the forest fighting branch of the Provincial Timber Department along the Coast is taking a well-earned rest, there being now no fires alight in the Coast district. The rain of the past few days has assisted the fire-fighters to a great extent, and Mr. G. D. MacKay, Provincial timber inspector, reports that there are at present no fires in his district. He also states, however, that the vigilance of his department has not been relaxed, a careful watch being kept for even the smallest blaze.

Naval Volunteers—The newly-formed corps of Naval Volunteers has had its first drill, which was carried out with every satisfaction. There are now nearly fifty volunteers enrolled and the intention is not to appoint any officers of the detachment for three months, by which time the capacity of the various volunteers will have been ascertained. E. P. Kay is acting as secretary pro tem.

genius on parts of the world even now separated from her. The British people, by that wonderful English language, were given a hold over the world that was becoming stronger every day.

Here in this Province, he said, he found a living image of Great Britain, only made more charming because of its youth. He raised his glass to British Columbia and its uniting of the old and the young countries.

At the conclusion of the remarks, Dr. Mackay expressed the thanks of the club to the distinguished visitor, and Maitre Labori, in a short reply in the French language, addressed those present who might be of French origin or familiar with the language.

The luncheon guests dispersed to the strains of "O Canada," and the orchestra played "The Marseillaise."

MR. BOSCOWITZ ON SEALING QUESTIONS

Much Evidence Relating to Value and Classification of Skins—Witness' Faith in Assets of Company.

The examination of Mr. Joseph Boscowitz was continued throughout the session of the Sealing Commission yesterday. Mr. Boscowitz was a holder of 1,560 shares in the Victoria Sealing Co., which he bought between 1901 and 1910. He never lost faith in the ample security afforded by the vessels, and never sold a share. He was also interested in the American company that had the monopoly of the sealing on the islands, so that, as the counsel for the Crown put it to him, he "was doing well either way." His brother was one of the originators of the American company. As far back as 1888 he owned mortgages on several of the schooners and in that year went up to Sitka with $54,000 to ransom seized vessels, and the catches of two years, but was only allowed to bond out one vessel.

The difference between a first-class skin taken in May, June and July, and one taken later in the season, and consequently "stagey," was explained. The skin of the seal for fur purposes is at its best in the earlier months of the Summer, whether male or female, and before it has been knocked about by life on the rocks and gravel of the land. From August onwards a growth of long black hair is developed with roots which penetrates deep into the hide. All the long hair on a skin has to be picked out, leaving only the soft under fur, and in the case of this later growth of hair it is impossible to do this by hand. A machine is used, and even this cannot abstract the hair without bringing out along with it a certain portion of the fur. To get the hair out it is necessary to scrape the inside of the skin thin, and only an expert can do this uniformly.

Giving evidences as to his purchase of sealskins from outside schooners in 1910, Mr. Boscowitz stated that he had bought 176 from Mr. Stockham early in June for $9,660, or at an average of $55 apiece. Again on June 29 he bought 174 from Captain V. Jacobson at an average of $31.60, and from the appearance of these skins he was clearly of opinion that the latter catch, at any rate, had been made shortly before the sale, that is in the prohibitive months since May 1. A skin when first taken must be salted down as soon as possible and not disturbed during the first 15 days. As its age increased the action of the salt was to make it hard as a board.

Sir Charles Tupper—"In fact, my lord, we say that the appearance of these skins when Mr. Boscowitz bought them corroborates our contention that the high catches made in the last years by outside schooners would have been impossible if the regulations prohibiting sealing in the close months had been observed."

Values of Seal Skins

Mr. Boscowitz also threw considerable light on a point which had up to yesterday not been placed too clearly before the Commission. This was that the skins from seals killed on the island rookeries commanded far higher prices than those killed at sea. The former are known to the trade as "Alaskan" skins, while all other seals taken at sea, whether in the Behring Sea or elsewhere, are known as "Northwest" skins. If "Alaskan" skins were selling for instance at $15, the price of "Northwest" skins would be about $8.

Captain Frank Adams in conversation after the session closed explained that there were many good reasons for this difference in price, beyond the fact that on the islands the seals were killed without the use of gun and spear, and so the skins were free from injury. On the islands, where the breeding grounds were, only the bachelor seals of two and three years of age were killed, and every precaution was taken to get them to the killing grounds in cool condition. Once killed, the most expert men in the business alone were employed in skinning them, leaving on the inside of the skin the layer of blubber which is necessary, and these men rarely damaged the skin by cuts.

Out at sea the seal might be of any age or sex, and the skinning would be done by the Indian or white man without any special knowledge of skinning, in a great hurry and heedless of whether injury was done by cuts or other perforations.

It is now practically certain that the case of the Victoria Sealing Company will not be concluded before the end of the present session, next Wednesday. The Commission is due to sit at Halifax early in September and returns here to investigate the Indian claims on December 9.

The sealing commissioner, Mr. Justice Audette, has in addition to this inquiry his duties as a Judge of the Exchequer Court to attend to, which necessitates his presence at points as widely removed as Quebec and Prince Rupert during the year. Consequently, if the Indian claims take precedence at the Christmas session, it is unlikely that any other claims will have a chance of being heard until well on in 1914.

Summer is on the wane and the season for reawakened activity in school circles is at hand.

You who need cheap but good pianos for practice purposes in schools, conservatories, or for the use of the children at home, will find some exceptional bargains here for a few days only.

Some of these pianos are practically new; others are more or less worn, but perfectly good. Everyone has a pure, ringing, lasting tone, equal to that of the best new piano; nothing better for practice purposes could be found.

You will be surprised at the remarkable values we are allowing on these instruments while they last. There are only a few of them and they will not last long.

A Vagrant's Creed

To but accept the bitter with the sweet,
And learn to drain life's proffered cup complete:

To swing in place the chafing-buckled load,
And, hopeful-hearted, face the open road:

To greet with friendly hail each passing face,
To find the green-girt world a gladsome place:

To know the rose-fringed road must wander, too,
Through some dim paths, close-set with tear-wet rue:

To prize the worth of one true-hearted friend
Who shares the footpath to the journey's end:

To learn the price of joy more oft is told
In light-heart pennies than in care-worn gold:

To know the heart of love that bravely smiles
On bleeding feet and long, untrodden miles:

To see within the dusk of each new night
The camp-fire of contentment blazing bright:

Heart-glad, to say before your eyelids fall,
"Good den, fair days! I'd welcome for you all!"

—Martha Haskell Clark, in Outlook

A Painstaking Student

In Chancery Lane, in London, there is now a handsome building, in which are kept the important public documents of Great Britain for the last eight centuries. These papers, books and parchments were, till 1851, scattered in hundreds of places throughout the country. Since that time this storehouse has been built, and an army of people have been collecting and filing the documents. Many of these were merely transferred, for Sir Thomas Wilson, in the reign of James I., began the task, and from that time the work of assembling these archives in orderly fashion has gone on. Many of them were treasured in the great universities, in the libraries of noblemen and statesmen, or in the British Museum.

Since the opening of this century, however, all records, including the most precious collections, have been placed in the Record Office.

How necessary is the provision for the preservation of valuable documents is shown by an incident related by a writer in The Lady's Realm.

"In 1840 a fishmonger named Jay bought a large quantity of paper from Somerset House at the rate of £7 a ton. When the paper was sorted, some official documents containing the signature of Henry V., an autograph letter by Cardinal Wolsey and an MS. of Edward I. were found among them."

It was high time that such precious relics were safeguarded. They are now housed in chambers fitted with steel shelves and watched and guarded with the greatest care.

Students of history, politics, economy, literature, law, war and many other subjects spend much time in the Record Office, and every facility is afforded for the examination of the records, while danger of theft or careless handling is provided against.

Among the students is a little old lady with a strong Scottish accent, who for twenty-five years has been delving among these old books and manuscripts. Little that has any bearing on the work of Shakespeare has escaped her eager eye, and she has embodied in many books the result of her research.

The name of this patient and diligent seeker after knowledge is Mrs. C. G. Stopes. Her attainments are widely known. It is interesting to learn that this investigator is convinced that Shakespeare himself was the author of the poems and plays attributed to him, but for which some modern critics would give Bacon credit.

Distinguished Visitors

Next week Victoria will be visited by a number of delegates to the International Geological Congress, which met at Ottawa last week. Among these are several ladies, some of whom are distinguished for their own researches in geology. Others are wives of geologists of international fame. As will be seen, there are two parties, one of which will arrive on Monday, the other on Tuesday. It is to be hoped that these visitors, who can make but a short stay, will be treated with the hospitality for which Canada, and Victoria especially, is noted. The following is a list of those who have arranged to come to this city:

Children's Dancing

Much is said in these days against the evils of the dances in vogue, so much, indeed, that people are beginning to wonder whether those good folks of a past generation were not justified in their denunciation of this form of amusement.

On the other hand, even very old ladies and gentlemen tell stories which show that youth could not be prevented, even by the strictest of guardians, from enjoying the stolen delights of the dance. Too often, deceit and concealment made of what might have been an innocent pastime, a real sin.

Times have changed and public opinion has, of late years, looked upon dancing as one of the rights of youth. It is only within the last few years that society has permitted, under the name of the dance, behavior that no one pretends to defend.

Lovers of youth and of goodness have felt that instead of condemning dancing, they should encourage children and young people to dance naturally and innocently. The old morris dances have been revived and the folk dances of the peasantry of foreign countries been introduced into the United States. School authorities and settlement workers have combined to teach the children of the crowded quarters of great cities to dance to good music.

In some large cities the civic authorities have obtained control of the dance halls and utilized the parks and park buildings for the amusement of youths and maidens. Here under the sympathetic supervision dancing is countenanced during the early hours of the evening. No intoxicants are permitted nor any extravagance allowed.

It is believed that in these ways there will be developed in the young a sense of decorum that will prevent many of the evils that threaten modern society, while youth will be afforded the enjoyment to which it is entitled. There is enough in this view to entitle such experiments to a fair trial.

Work of Arson Squad

CARNARVON, Wales, Aug. 14.—Suffragettes made an attempt to burn the Carnarvon county school. The fire was discovered shortly after it was set and the firemen were able to extinguish the flames before much damage resulted. The usual suffragette literature was found outside the building, and also a card on which was written: "We work while David Lloyd George preaches."

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

SCHOOL REOPENS AFTER HOLIDAYS

RIVAL BODIES FIGHT IT OUT

Time That A.A.U. and A.S.A. Came to Some Agreement —Swimming Race Over the Gorge Course Today.

Just how the trouble between the Amateur Athletic Union and the Amateur Swimming Association will end is impossible to say, but it seems that the two bodies will have to fight their differences out to some kind of a settlement now or go on bickering and hurting one another in every possible way until the athletes lose all respect for both organizations.

The case which has arisen through the threat of the local branch of the A. A. U. to suspend those who compete in the swimming race to be held today under the auspices of the local branch of the A. S. A. typifies the feeling that exists between the two bodies throughout the Dominion, and which has on numerous previous occasions revealed itself in petty hostilities. The root of the disaffection lies in the refusal of the A. S. A. to accept the A. A. U.'s claims towards complete jurisdiction over amateur sport in Canada, and a disinclination on the part of the A. A. U. to come to any compromise with the A. S. A. in this regard. The A. A. U. has often been up against similar cases of opposition, but has generally prevailed owing to an overwhelming strength on its side, but in this instance it has to deal with an offshoot of an athletic body which has a firm foothold in most other parts of the world, and whose independence in the matter of amateurism is generally recognized. The fact that the Swimming Association has been able to assert its independence of the Amateur Union in some other places is an argument in its favor, but the Amateur Union can present arguments every bit as convincing. If both should make some concession they might easily come to an amicable agreement, but as the situation is now neither one will budge from the stand it has taken, and there is every prospect of a pretty muddle arising in athletic circles hereabouts.

Entries for Race

However, the swimmers will put on their long distance race from the J. B. A. A. boathouse to the Gorge Bridge today despite the A. A. U., and they have a fair-sized entry from various athletic clubs. The following are entered: L. K. Godfrey, W. T. Stanyon, J. D. McNeill, D. Balnave, Ivy Straith-Bell, all of Victoria Amateur Swimming Club; Madge Griffin, R. L. S. S.; G. E. Chaffey, Vancouver Rowing Club; R. A. R. Clarke, Frank Cooper and F. H. Small, Y. M. C. A. S. C.; R. Tow and W. Thomson, unattached; F. H. Smith, police force.

The race will start at 3 o'clock, and the finishing point will be at the city landing at the Gorge Bridge. Mrs. H. Pike will chaperon the lady contestants. Mr. W. J. Shortt will act as starter, and will present the prizes which will consist of two handsome cups, one presented by Shortt, Hill & Duncan for the first man finishing, and the other by Mr. J. S. H. Matson, for the first lady finishing.

FINALS IN SEATTLE TENNIS PLAYED TODAY

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 15.—The semi-finals in all the events of the Washington State tennis tournament were disposed of today and the finals will be played tomorrow on the courts of the Seattle tennis club.

In the men's singles Sam Russell, the local veteran, will meet Hugh Kelleher, a Seattle youth. Russel beat Baker, of Vancouver, and Kelleher beat McBurney, of Seattle, in the semi-finals. Russell's victory was conceded before the match, but Kelleher's victory was the surprise of the tournament. Miss Sella Fording, of Portland, and Mrs. Bragdon, of Seattle, will meet in the finals in the ladies' singles. In the mixed doubles Miss Fording and Kelleher will oppose Miss Sarah Livingstone, of Seattle, and Dr. Turner. In the men's doubles McBurney and Russell will play Kelleher and Shannon, and in the ladies' doubles Mrs. Bragdon and Miss Ruth Miller, of Seattle, will play Miss Mira Lambuth and Miss Jane Lambuth, of Seattle. A. Pingle, of Tacoma, and R. Williams will be the opponents in the finals for the junior singles championship.

BEES LOSE ONE OF TWO GAMES

After Being Given Disgraceful Defeat in First Game, Victoria Loses Grip on Second in Ninth Inning.

League Standing

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Vancouver	71	50	.587
Seattle	69	54	.561
Portland	64	51	.557
Victoria	57	60	.463
Tacoma	56	68	.451
Spokane	46	14	.368

After being disgracefully beaten, 11 to 2, in the first game yesterday, the Bees had a grand chance to even up the series with Tacoma by taking the second game, but a boggled play for a double in the last period gave the Tigers the equalling run, the game was called with the score 2-2 on account of darkness.

In the opening argument, "Lefty" Kantlehner, the youngster who now occupies the proud position of leading man in the Bee pitching string, apparently was seized with a desire to show Parham and Pitchner that, while they may give a passable imitation, it takes a southpaw to show what wildness really means, and he did it. He was as irresponsible as a Nanaimo coalminer in his wildest mood—a regular riot in himself, in fact, and for a little more than an inning he spattered the ball all over the surrounding country regardless of the fact that Eddie Quaan had one time gone to the trouble of laying down a plate for the especial benefit of his kind.

Not only was Kantlehner wild, but he did not have a thing on the ball, and when it chanced to pass anywhere near the Tigers just bounced it into some safe portion of the territory. What with numerous resounding hits and a veritable flood of free transportation, the visitors paraded around the bases until the onlookers became dizzy trying to follow the stream.

After the Tigers had scored seven runs as quickly as it is possible to accomplish such a feat, Toner was dispatched to the front, and he stayed the enemy until the fifth, then he also faded away, and the McGinnity men gathered in four more runs. Meanwhile, McGinnity had been having an easy time with the Bee batters. He had them swinging helplessly at his "Old Sal" ball, and for five innings there was no chance for Victoria to break into the scoring. At this point McGinnity decided that he had the game tucked away, and lifted Pitcher Parham, purposing to reserve his strength for another start in the second game. Belford, who took up the work, was evidently inoculated with the same disease that caused the demise of Kantlehner, for he walked the first three men who faced him; but he succeeded in getting it out of his system pretty well, and only two runs were counted against him, one of them being a homer by the irrepressible Danny Shea. Danny is always springing something unexpected, it matters not what the occasion, or how trying the situation.

Second Game

In the second game, Pitchner and McGinnity engaged in a pretty pitching duel, the former using blinding speed and the latter relying solely on a balloon-like floater which seemed to mysteriously fade into nothingness whenever a Bee took a slam at it.

McGinnity got a bad start, hitting Crum and injudiciously serving up a grooved ball for Smith in the first inning, in punishment for which he had a brace of counters chalked up against him. But after that he got his floater floating properly, and was invincible. Pitchner, although hit harder than McGinnity, might have had a no-run game to his credit had it not been for a mistake on Casey's part, and the aforementioned bungled play. There was some excuse for both mistakes, but that does not make it any pleasanter for Pitchner. He deserved to win his game, if anybody ever did.

In the fifth inning Hensling got a lucky three-bagger, the ball bounding badly just as it reached Alberts in right field, and going through him to the fence. Millon then cracked out a long fly out to left, and although the ball dropped about a foot outside the foul line it was called fair, and, of course, Hensling came home. It was plainly apparent to those in the grandstand that the ball dropped foul, but as soon as Umpire Lindsay turned around there is a bad slope from third base to the left field, it might have looked different to Casey. However the Bees really had their grip of the game in the ninth, when Neighbors and Keller opened up with singles. McMullin was struck out and Harris grounded to Delmas. Neighbors crossed the plate, but the run would not have counted had Meek held Rawlings' throw, and thus completed a double play. Delmas to Rawlings to Meek, which would have retired the side. But again there is an extenuating circumstance. The throw could have been handled, but it was not the easiest in the world. It was low and to one side.

The second game was played in shorter time than any previous one here.

Today's game starts at 2 o'clock.

OPEN CANADIAN GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

MONTREAL, Aug. 15.—The open championship of the Royal Canadian Golf Association was won today by Albert Murray, who established a new record for 72 holes, lowering the mark of 298 made at last year's open championship by G. Sargent by four strokes. Tied for second place were Jack Burke, Fort William, and N. Thompson, Hamilton, six shots behind Murray.

Mishap to General Sir Ian Hamilton

LONDON, Aug. 15.—Having sufficiently recovered from a slight concussion of the brain through a box falling on his head from the top of his motor car, General Sir Ian Hamilton resumed his business at the War Office today. The accident occurred as the general was entering the car on his return from service on memory of the wife of Col. Seley.

TOUR OF CANADA BY SCOTCH TEAM

Likelihood That International Footballers Will Visit the Dominion at End of Coming Season.

There is every likelihood of a Scottish international football team touring the Dominion at the end of the coming season. The president of the S. F. A. and the majority of the football council look with favor on the projected tour. A writer in The Glasgow Record has the following to say on the subject:

"I urged last season that the Scottish Football Association ought to broaden the scope of its international matches and send a team out to the Dominion. I was able to show by an interview I published with a Canadian football enthusiast that the tour could be made to pay.

"Canada is bound to Scotland by ties of kinship that are developing with increasing strength year after year.

"My postbag the other day brought me a communication from a leading member of the S. F. A. Council, who heartily endorses the suggested trip to the Dominion at the end of next season. Other football friends have written to me stating they will do their utmost to help. All this is extremely cheering.

"From what I learn from across the sea, a welcome awaits the first Scottish team to cross that will exceed the warm and hospitality of the best Scots' international outing on record. I trust the S. F. A. will enter heartily into the project, and make the preliminary announcement early, so that Canada will have ample time to make all arrangements."

At a meeting of the Referees' Union held in Manchester there was a discussion on the recent suspension of Arthur Adams, the referee in the now famous English Cup final. The action of the Football Association was condemned and a resolution passed to that effect, which will be forwarded to the parent body.

Arthur Adams says he feels that he does not want to take any further active part in football, and, if it were not for his connection with the Nottingham Thursday League, for which he has the most kindly feelings, he would not hesitate to cut himself adrift from the game altogether.

In his judgment, the foul which seems to have been the cause of all the trouble was one which called for the action which it received and for nothing more.

NEW ZEALAND RUGBY TEAM TO VISIT CITY

That the touring New Zealand rugby footballers who are due in California next month to play a series of matches will extend their tour to Victoria and Vancouver is almost certain, according to a prominent Rugby Union official who is now in communication with the tourists. It is hoped to arrange for a series with an all-star British Columbia team early in November. The New Zealanders will sail for home from this port.

A wire has been received from the California Rugby Union asking whether Vancouver and Victoria would offer a guarantee for the New Zealand men to come to British Columbia for three matches, and stating that the tourists could leave San Francisco on November 15. Every effort will be made to have the New Zealand team come this way, and the co-operation of all lovers of Rugby is being sought.

RIFLE MATCHES AT CAMP PERRY

International Shoot Will Be Largely Attended by Canadians—Nearly Every Province Is Sending Delegation.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—International interest centres in the rifle matches which open at Camp Perry, Ohio, today. The trials of skill and eye and nerve which begin the day with matches of the National Rifle Association of America, the opening event of which will be the 38th annual contest for the Wimbledon Cup for the individual long range championship of the United States, will also include the national matches from August 25 to 29 and the international matches from September 1 to 9.

The widest interest, of course, is in the international matches which open Monday, September 1, to continue for nine days. The ten nations which will participate in these contests are France, Germany, Switzerland, Sweden, Argentine Republic, Peru, Canada, Mexico, Cuba and the United States. The organization of international rifle shooting societies of the world voted in France last year to bring their matches to the United States this year, and the newly organized Pan-American Shooting Union did likewise, insuring a concentration of the great international shooting competitions at Camp Perry.

Four teams are now being organized and trained to represent the United States, one for the "free" rifle match of the Pan-American Union, another for the Palma Trophy Match and a pistol team which will enter the matches of both international unions.

In the "free" rifle match Switzerland, in the past has been invincible, having won fifteen times in sixteen years that the match has been shot and finishing second once. The Swiss team, which is coming over this year was victorious in France last year. The captain is Meyer de Stadelhosen. France is sending two very strong teams. The rifle team will be captained by R. Nerillon, president of the International Union and one of its members will be P. R. Colas, who won the 300-metre match at the Olympic games last year.

It is expected that the international matches will be largely attended by Canadian riflemen. Nearly every province is sending a delegation of its own and the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association will enter a team in the Palma Trophy match.

TO ENCOURAGE COTTON GROWING IN INDIA

Deputation of International Federation Urges Action by Government—Must Enlarge Fields to Meet Demand.

A deputation of the International Cotton Federation waited upon the Marquis of Crewe, Secretary for India, at the Indian Office, London, the other day to urge upon him the importance of encouraging the growth of cotton in India. The deputation, which was introduced by Sir Charles Macara, president of the Federation, included Herr C. O. Langen, Germany; M. C. Berger, France; M. Jean de Hemptinne, Belgium; Mr. S. Wantanabe, Japan; Mr. S. M. Johnson and Mr. J. F. Bradbury, India; and Mr. J. B. Tattersall and Mr. J. W. McConnell, England.

Sir Charles Macara said five-eighths of the cotton crop of the world came from America, and next to America, India was the most prolific producer of the staple. The Indian crop this year, it was expected, would be worth $250,000,000. Some improvement in quality and quantity was already manifest, and he attributed it largely to the educational work of the last few years, which had brought about better co-operation between Governments, growers, spinners and manufacturers. The present cotton crop was three times greater than the crop of forty years ago, but if the demand for cotton goods was to be adequately met, the cotton fields of the world must be enlarged at an even greater pace than had been the case in the past.

Mr. S. M. Johnson submitted that agriculture in India could not be sufficiently developed unless adequate and timely financial aid was forthcoming.

Several other members of the deputation spoke, the foreign representatives pointing out the increasing quantities of Indian cotton being used on the Continent. Herr Langen declared that Germany used six times more than Great Britain.

Lord Crewe's Reply

Lord Crewe said it was satisfactory to notice, by the admission of more than one of the speakers, that in their belief some progress had been made in the promotion of cotton growing in India. They would recognize that the Government of India had tried to do what they could. As regards large and immediate expansion in the growth, it was recognized that certain qualifications must be admitted. It was not reasonable to ask the Indian cultivator to displace other crops by cotton unless the cultivator could be definitely assured that the cotton crop would be more lucrative than that of which it took the place. Of course, there were other means of expansion, such as the substitution of a superior for an inferior quality of cotton. He was glad to admit that something substantial might be hoped in the direction of an increased output, and he looked forward to something substantial being done.

FIRECRACKERS USED TO ANNOY TROOPS

John Sharp Fined for Tossing Explosives on Ammunition Box Just Before Militia Corps Boarded Train.

Obstructing the Militia while on duty was the charge to which John Sharp was called upon to answer before the Police Magistrate yesterday morning. He threw a bunch of lighted firecrackers on an ammunition box which was being carried aboard the E. & N. train by two members of the Fifth Regiment on Thursday night. He pleaded guilty and was fined $20, or one month imprisonment.

When the case was called there was a large crowd in attendance, evidently the defendant's friends and sympathizers, to listen to the proceedings. The circumstances were related for the benefit of the Court. It was shown that the Fifth Regiment contingent, which left for the scene of the strike on the day indicated, was pestered, from the time it left the Drill Hall until the special train drew out, by a number of disorderly parties. They amused themselves by throwing lighted firecrackers among the troops as they marched. On arriving at the depot, two men, one of whom carried many packages of explosives, as well as a supply of matches, and a companion edged close to two soldiers who carried an ammunition box. The former then handed the latter an ignited bunch, which was thrown on the ammunition.

Of course there was no possibility of doing harm to the cartridges, but the troops thought the matter had gone far enough, and Sharpe was taken into custody and turned over to the police. His companion took to his heels.

Sentence having been pronounced and the penalty paid, the defendant, with a large following, moved out of Court. Outside the door they gave vent to their feelings in no uncertain terms. Bad language was freely used, and an officer hurried out to quell the disturbance. The man who was using his tongue with special emphasis, ran, and the others dispersed. It is the belief of the police that the party who escaped is the same one that carried the explosives on Thursday evening for the purpose of annoying the Militia.

Hon. Mr. Roche Leaves Ottawa—Hon. Mr. Rogers Pays a Visit to Edmonton

OTTAWA, Aug. 15.—Hon. W. J. Roche, Minister of the Interior, left for the West today. The minister will be absent from the Capital for several weeks. During the course of the day Mr. Roche had a long conference with Premier Borden in regard to Western matters.

EDMONTON, Alta., Aug. 15.—Hon. Robert Rogers, Minister of Public Works, arrived in the city this morning coming from Saskatoon over the C. P. R.

Interviewed by a delegation headed by Mayor Shortt, he concurred very fully and very emphatically in the suggestion that the penitentiary be removed from the city limits.

"The Government is going ahead with the improvement of Saskatchewan River. When it gets the work done at Prince Albert, navigation will be much clearer. That will give a clear run for steamers from Edmonton to Le Pas and later on to Hudson Bay," said the minister.

City Conservatives tendered Mr. Rogers a luncheon this morning, and this evening there was an informal civic banquet given by Mayor Shortt and the civic corporation in his honor.

"I Never See You Dusting" said Mrs. White

"WELL, Mrs. White, I'll confess that I don't have to do much dusting since we got our McClary's Sunshine Furnace."

"You don't say so, Mrs. Wright. What difference does that make? Isn't one furnace the same as another?"

"Well, I'll tell you, Mrs. White—McClary's Sunshine is certainly different from our last furnace. It's a clean furnace. It has what McClary's call a sure-acting dust flue."

"A dust flue, eh?

"Yes, and when George, my husband, 'rocks' down the ashes—he doesn't have to break his back shaking the Sunshine, you know—the dust all goes up the sure-acting dust flue. It doesn't come up into the house."

"Wish our furnace was a Sunshine, Mrs. Wright. And you should just see Mr. White after shaking our furnace. Mad! Well, I should say so. And he sure looks his name. He is WHITE. His suits are ruined, he declares, as soon as he gets them, and he swears that the thing is not a furnace at all, but a patent coal-consumer gotten out to benefit the coal man."

"But why not get your husband to put in a Sunshine furnace, Mrs. White? You can persuade him to do most anything for you. And it will cut down your coal bills. We burn a third less coal with the Sunshine."

THERE'S a McClary agent in your locality who will gladly tell you all about the coal-saving, labor-saving and health-producing features of McClary's Sunshine Furnace. It will pay you to read the latest Sunshine booklet. Write our nearest office for a copy.

PREPARATIONS TO RESIST HOME RULE

Correspondent of The London Times Says There Can Be No Mistaking Sincerity of Men of Ulster.

An Irish correspondent, writing in The London Times, says:

It appears to be generally assumed in the North of Ireland that, even if the Government should venture so far as to place the Home Rule Bill upon the statute-book without confirmation of its Irish policy at a general election, it would never dare, in the last resort, to enforce the Act by means of British troops. Although British officers are naturally reticent on so delicate a subject, I find that this opinion prevails among those who have given the matter serious thought, and who foresee the possibility of having to determine their individual line of action in the event of an Irish Parliament being established and met by organized resistance on the part of the Protestant Unionists. Judging by what I have seen and heard on the spot within the last month, there can be no doubt that, should the Government's policy lead to civil war, the Ulster Covenanters will number in their ranks not only a large number of retired officers, but many who will resign their commissions whenever the crisis becomes imminent.

The fact that men holding the King's commission should be compelled to contemplate such a situation, however improbable and remote, creates a situation which must, even now, have its effect upon the solidarity of the Army, upon its discipline and esprit de corps. If this situation is protracted, the tension becoming more and more acute as the lines of cleavage are more sharply defined, the results, both in the Army and the Navy, must inevitably be deplorable. It is utterly inconceivable that the Government can be under any delusion as to the direction which the sympathies of British soldiers and sailors would take in such a quarrel, or that it should lightly incur any risk of having to order them to take up arms against the Loyalists of Ulster. No army composed of human beings could maintain its sense of duty and discipline under such a strain.

However sincerely the average officer may desire to avoid being concerned with politics, all his instincts make him at heart a fervent Unionist.

Attitude of Soldiers

After discussing the question with military men in Ulster and elsewhere, I think that their present attitude may fairly be described as one of uneasiness, tempered by the hope, and in many cases the firm belief, that the Government will never force the issue to the point at which Ulster would be compelled to take up arms. Nevertheless, the uneasiness is increasing, for all thoughtful men realize that, under the strain of Ulster's preparation, racial and religious animosities are rapidly rising to the surface, and that, under these conditions, any trifling incident may throw the whole country into an uproar of strife, not easy to be quelled. I find everywhere, among those responsible for the maintenance of law and order, frank recognition of the seriousness of the situation thus created, and confirmation of the opinion expressed by Mr. Bonar Law in the debate on the third reading of the Bill, that the Government has now stirred up a spirit which, whatever happens, it cannot overcome, and that any attempt to overcome it will inflict irreparable disaster on the country. Responsible officers welcome the assurances given by Mr. Birrell that the forces of the Crown will not be called upon to coerce into submission the people of Ulster, but they realize that, long before next May, the Government may have drifted into a position of grave danger from which it will be unable to retreat, and then, against its pledges and its will, may be forced to take steps which would bring the troops into collision with the Unionists' forces.

It is difficult for an Englishman to realize how deep and how bitter run the waters of strife in many of the old channels that were digged five centuries ago—a strife of religion, of temperament, of ideals and interests—or how many half-forgotten feuds are being revived by this latest offspring of the Radical Party's desperate necessities. It would be interesting to know how many officers on the active list have been drawn from Ireland's landed gentry and liberal professions; how many, at this moment, are sorely divided between their professional and their traditional instincts. The number is certainly large; over 100, I am told, have signed the Covenant and pledged themselves to "prevent this conspiracy." Others, stationed in England and abroad, have sent contributions to the Defence Fund and promised to throw in their lot with Ulster in the day of trouble. The military preparations of the Loyalists have their pathetic and at times even their ludicrous aspects, but the spirit which animates the Covenanters is a spirit of unswerving sincerity and sober earnestness, the simple faith of plain, God-fearing men. Those who desribe it as "bluff" and pour upon it their cheap contempt are incurring a heavy debt of responsibility to Ireland and to the Empire at large.

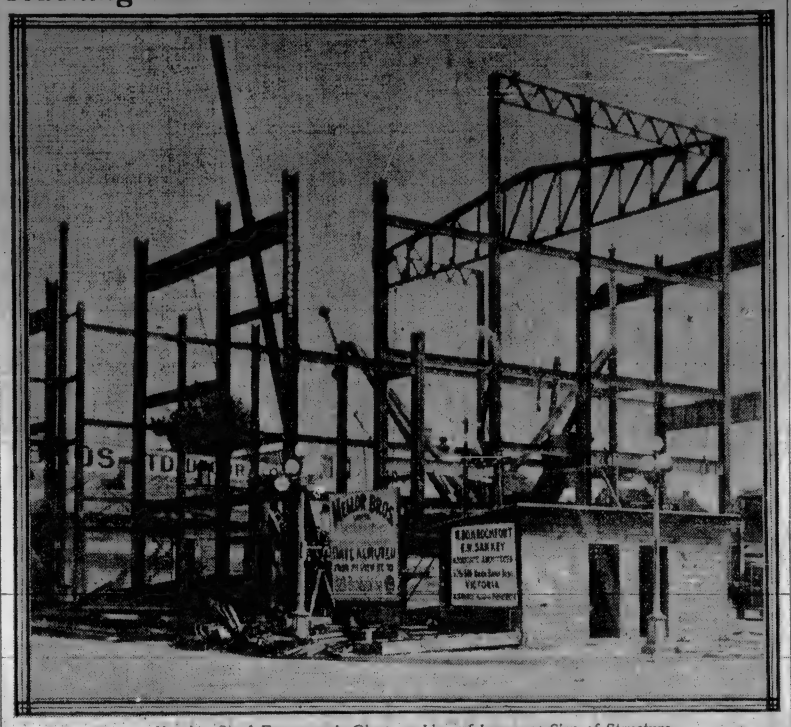

The feeling prevalent amongst the troops in Ireland is, as I have said, one of uneasiness, relieved by the thought that many things may happen between now and next May.

The Seizure of Arms

Ulster's thoroughly serious intention to offer organized resistance to the authority of a Parliament in Dublin has lately been emphasized by the seizure of arms consigned to Belfast and other Unionist centres. By availing itself of the law which requires all arms bought and sold in the United Kingdom to be proof-marked, the Government has succeeded by perfectly legal means in stopping supplies for the time being; but this does not mean that the Covenanters' leaders will have any serious difficulty in obtaining all the rifles they need whenever they consider that the time has come for arming the whole of their forces.

At present no weapons have been issued to the drill halls in Belfast itself, but it is an open secret that most of the workers in the shipyards have provided themselves with firearms, and rifle practice on miniature ranges is going on steadily all over the four counties. To certain isolated clubs, in outlying districts, arms have been distributed. Yet, while these things are being done, foreshadowing trouble of a kind that every soldier estimates at its proper seriousness, the Prime Minister continues to comfort himself with the assurance that the "fundamental unity" underlying the differences of race, creed, and political faith in Ireland will suffice to ensure Ulster's peaceable acceptance of Home Rule! The officers in command of British troops in Ireland—the men upon whom will fall the first penalty of this purblind delusion—know better. They are convinced that Lord Wolseley was right when, as Commander-in-Chief of Ireland, he said, 20 years ago, that Ulster would surely defend its liberties, and that a collision between its Loyalists and the forces of the Crown would shake the army and the Empire to their foundations.

Massive Steel Framework Gives an Idea of Immense Size of Structure

WILL SPEND MILLION ON TELEPHONE SYSTEM

A loan of £10,000,000 for the development of the national telephone system during the next few years was foreshadowed by Postmaster-General Samuel in replying to a deputation from the London Chamber of Commerce. Members of the deputation pointed out grievances, such as inequitable contracts with subscribers and the constant reply "engaged," and urged the necessity for more up-to-date apparatus throughout the London exchange and the improvement of the trunk services.

The Postmaster-General denied the accuracy of many criticisms, but admitted that the service had not yet reached the standard of efficiency desired. One suggestion by the deputation was that the London exchanges should be modernized. "There again," said Mr. Samuel, "we are taking action, and action of the most extensive kind. During the present financial year I shall have spent about £3,000,000 in new telephone construction and development out of capital; that is altogether apart from the purchase money paid to the National Telephone Company, and before long I shall be going to Parliament to ask for authority to borrow another £10,000,000 for the development in the next few years of the national telephone system. In order to relieve the minds of commercial men interested in the money market, I should like to say that we do not anticipate it will be necessary to go to the money market for this money, but that it can all be provided out of the funds in the hands of the National Debt Commissioners without floating Government loan."

With regard to the trunk line service the Post Office were making large extensions. He was spending £300,000 on a new underground cable from London to Birmingham, which, when completed, would provide three times the present number of wires, and which would help to serve Manchester, Liverpool, the North of England generally, and also the West of England. The work was about to be put in hand. The sum now being spent in developing the trunk service throughout the country was about £1,800,000, and that improvement would, both directly and indirectly, affect the trunk service of London.

Discussing the question of rates, Mr. Samuel said that his policy had been to effect no change at all in the existing system of rates until the whole question was overhauled.

Mr. Samuel added that in 17 of the large towns of the country advisory committees had been set up consisting of men representing all interests of the community, in order to confer with the Post Office on these matters, and twelve more such bodies were in process of formation. It might not be possible to form a combined committee of all the various bodies concerned in the metropolis, but, at any rate, he should be happy to act with a committee of the London Chamber of Commerce, as he did with the various boards in the different provincial towns.

MOORING AIRSHIPS TO TOPS OF MASTS

British Advisory Committee for Aeronautics Tells of Recent Experiments — Factors in Aeroplane Construction.

Much valuable research work of a thoroughly practical character is being carried out by and under the direction of the British Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, of which Lord Rayleigh is president. Its report for 1912-1913 is mainly of a technical character, relating to experiments and investigations, which are of interest chiefly to designers and users of aircraft. But, generally, a perusal of the document conveys the assurance that no effort is being spared to elucidate the many problems of aerial construction and navigation, and that notable progress has been made towards ensuring the maximum of efficiency and safety.

It is stated that a communication has been received from the War Office asking that early attention should be given to the special questions which were the subject of recommendations by the committee who inquired into the causes of last year's accidents to monoplanes of the Royal Flying Corps. The demands from the constructive departments for experimental data also continue to increase, and the committee has consequently found it necessary to ask for provision to be made for additions both to the equipment and the staff for experimental work during the current year.

Problem of Stability

The work of last year included experiments on models of aeroplane wings, bodies, etc., and on complete models; experiments in wind channels to determine the wind forces and moments on parts of aeroplanes; the investigation of stability, propeller efficiency, strength of construction, the suitability of fabrics and other materials of construction; experiments in connection with the design of floats for hydro-aeroplanes, and meteorological researches. Much attention has been devoted to the important problem of stability, both in its theoretical and practical aspects, and the committee expresses gratification at the great advance which has been made in the study of the subject by the aeronautics staff of the National Physical Laboratory. This work, they remark, must still be regarded as in the preliminary stage, but results of undoubted value have been reached, and there seems every prospect that great progress will be possible during the coming year.

In addition to the investigation of stability in the more limited mathematical sense, the necessary data are being accumulated to enable the behavior of the machine under more exceptional conditions to be thoroughly examined. Some progress in this direction has already been made, and special attention will be devoted to this work during the present year. In response to the request from the War office arising out of the report of the departmental committee appointed to enquire into the causes of accidents to monoplanes, the question of vol plque, in particular, will be specially considered.

Factors of Safety

Discussing factors of safety in aeroplane construction, the committee points out that the structural strength required in the wing, skeleton calls for much closer and more detailed examination than it would appear yet to have received, and the question is engaging its careful attention. It is hoped that it may be possible to indicate methods of calculation, and to set out in a simple manner the procedure to be followed in the determination of the factors of safety for the various members of the wing, with a view to establishing a uniform system under which constructors may be able readily to draw up a satisfactory specification for the various parts of the structure which shall ensure an ample margin of safety.

Closely related to this matter is the question of the tests to be applied to the completed aeroplane in order to secure that no machine is accepted for service unless structurally of sufficient strength. The tests generally to be satisfied by the completed machine before acceptance are receiving immediate consideration by the committee.

Mooring of Airships

It is stated that a system of mooring airships which not only dispenses with the necessity of portable sheds, as far as wind protection is concerned, but which provides the means of riding out a high wind until such time as the airship can be housed has been evolved and successfully tried with the army airships Beta, Gamma and Delta. The shed cannot, however, be dispensed with permanently, owing to the depreciation of the material if left exposed to light and weather. The mooring arrangement consists of a cone universally pivoted at the top of a mast and arranged so that the nose of the airship is dragged into the cone.

Although this device facilitates the employment of the airship in much rougher weather than when it must be got into or out of a shed, it was considered useful to study methods of housing in rough weather, and for this purpose a dock consisting of steel uprights and removable canvas shelter was erected at the mouth of one of the sheds. The eddies over this in certain winds still require investigation.

A desire for aeroplanes to cope with airships, and therefore of such range that control of a single pilot for very many hours would be too fatiguing, led to the requirement of a machine with dual control. It was thought, moreover, that if the dominating control could be given to one of the pilots, the device might also be useful for instructional purposes. Various dual controls were accordingly designed and tried. With the advent of the machine of long air duration, it is added, this research will have to be further prosecuted.

OLD GREAT EASTERN CABLE IS REPAIRED

Steamer Minia Has Returned to Halifax After Completing Long, Difficult Task—Iceberg Detector a Success.

After six months' bucking the turbulent North Atlantic final repairs have been effected to the cable strung forty years ago by the famous Great Eastern between Newfoundland and Ireland, and the cableship Minia has returned to Halifax. She was just one month away from port this trip and finished the work begun last year, when five months were occupied in cruising in mid-ocean. The old cable is once more under operation after being several years idle, says a Halifax correspondent of The Toronto Star.

Throughout her four weeks at sea the Minia was shrouded in fog and she was forced to lay to for days until the weather would clear. When she reached her destination the officers discovered the buoys that they had strung on the parted cable ends last year had broken adrift in the intervening period and grappling had to be resorted to to locate the ends.

There, seven hundred miles east of Heart's Content, the western terminus of the cable, sledges were sunk two thousand fathoms to the floor of the ocean. With the grappling hooks dragging along more than two miles below, the Minia steamed northward and succeeded in clutching the cable on the first sounding. This was brought to the surface and when the end was found a buoy was attached with a light on it. Because of the fog the work could not be proceeded with immediately, and the Minia slowly battled with the current drifts while keeping within touch of the guiding light on the buoy.

Swept Away by Current

In one stretch of eight days she lay thus, and those in charge were led an exciting dance in holding in view of the light. Twice the current carried the ship away, but she recovered her position after several hours of steaming about in circles.

Finally a clear day prevailed and in two hours was accomplished the operation that so long the elements had prevented. After splicing on to the old cable the thirteen-mile gap between the broken ends was replaced with new material and the cable placed ready for use.

The Minia then proceeded seventeen miles in a northerly direction to fix a cable running between Heart's Content and Queenstown. The importance of the recently installed frigidometer was fully established. This was the first exhaustive test for the iceberg detecting device, and it was fulfilled with ample exactitude. Whenever a drop or rise of temperature of any degree occurred in the water it was duly recorded on the dial, while the coolness of the air was similarly registered. There still remains, however, the opportunity of trying it in the neighborhood of icebergs—for this was not afforded during the cruise just ended because the lower North Atlantic is now free from these "phantoms of the deep."

An additional discovery has attended these operations of the Minia—the action of the sea and periodical repairs have caused this transatlantic telegraph line to shift its position several miles.

Every boat engaged in the Jamaican sponge industry has a water glass or pane of glass inserted in the bottom of a box or bucket, through which the sponges are readily detected.

TO SEEK TREASURE IN SUNKEN FLEET

Search to Be Made in Navarino Bay on the West Coast of Greece—Vessels Carried Millions in Gold.

One of the most romantic hunts for sunken treasure will start shortly on the Bay of Navarino, on the West coast of Greece, where sixty-three Turkish and Egyptian ships of war were sunk by the allied fleets of Great Britain, France and Russia in 1827.

Of these sixty-three vessels, forty-three have been located and buoyed; many of them are known to have gone down with specie and other treasure on board, and, apart from this, the value of the actual material of the ships and their guns is estimated at an immense sum.

A company has been formed in London to recover treasure and anything that may be of value in the ships themselves. The secretary told how the salvors would go to work, and what they expected to find.

"All the existing records that might throw any light on the size and armament of the sunken ships have been most carefully examined," he said, "and from the dispatches of Admiral Codrington himself, and from other sources we have been able to ascertain definitely the size and nature of practically every vessel that was sunk in the engagement.

"It is thus possible, for instance, to estimate at the bottom of the bay there are at least 300,000 tons of oak timbers, which, by the action of time and the sea have been turned to the color and hardness of ebony. At a moderate estimate this timber, which is an ideal material for making furniture, will be worth about £8 per ton.

Sheathed in Copper

"All these old ships were sheathed with almost pure copper, and it is estimated that there must be at least 3,000 tons of the metal in the hulls of the submerged ships.

"Then, there are the guns. According to the records preserved at the British Admiralty, 3,105 guns went down in the Turkish and Egyptian ships. One thousand three hundred of these guns were made of bronze—which is worth from £50 to £60 per ton—and the average weight of each gun may safely be put at four tons."

The salvage of these materials alone should amply repay the venture; but there is also more than a possibility that the divers will find gold in specie and other forms.

Certain notes, written just before the engagement, and found among the papers of the Egyptian admiral, referred to the money in the possession of the two commanders of the fleet. Muharen Bey, the Egyptian admiral, had in his vessel two millions of dollars, twenty large bags of money, and ten thousand gold ducats; and the Turkish admiral, Ibrahim Pasha, stated in a note that his ship went down with gold and jewels worth not less than £4,800,000. It is more than likely that some of the other ships carried specie and other valuables, and a gold cup, of the shape used in the Greek Church, has already been recovered by a diver.

NEW BRIDGES FOR GLASGOW

Tramway Department of Corporation Will Erect New Structures Over the Clyde

As a result of the congestion of traffic at Jamaica Street bridge, which crosses the River Clyde, the corporation of the city of Glasgow has been advised by the sub-committee on cross-river communication to seek powers from Parliament for the construction of a fixed bridge across the Clyde.

It is proposed to erect, west of Jamaica Street, a stone-arched bridge faced with granite. The bridge would have six spans, would be 70 feet between the parapets, and would have 12-foot pathways on each side and a carriage way of 46 feet.

Another new bridge will also be erected as soon as possible on the other side of the Jamaica Street bridge. The most remarkable thing about the bridges, however, is that the total cost of erection of the two bridges, involving demolition of much valuable property and some loss of quay space at the Jamaica Street bridge, will be borne by the tramway department.

The prosperity of the Glasgow tramways has always been remarkable and has increased with the success of the halfpenny tramway fare. At the present time the halfpenny fare yields 39 per cent of the total receipts and the penny fare 36 per cent. Last year there were 311,000,000 tramway passengers, each of whom yielded a profit of 3-10 of a penny, or a total of over £388,000. The capital accounts of the tramway undertaking are even more remarkable.

Capital liabilities amount to £3,553,584, to meet which the department has a sinking fund, a depreciation and permanent way renewals fund, and a general reserve fund, totaling altogether £3,153,822. The net liability on the undertaking is, therefore, only £399,762 and, as the department devoted £812,834 last year to the sinking and depreciation funds, it is evident that the net liability will shortly disappear.

The department is therefore justified in undertaking the erection of the new bridges as well as adding 15 miles of new lines to populous points in the remoter suburbs.

CANADIAN TRADE REPORTS

Rapid Maturing of Crops Under Favorable Conditions Has Improved Feeling

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Dispatches to The Dun's Review from branch offices of R. G. Dun & Co., in the leading cities in the Dominion of Canada, say that the rapid maturing of the crops under favorable conditions has restored confidence in the future to a considerable extent, but that conservatism is still very much in evidence.

Montreal reports no particular change. There is a fair seasonable movement of groceries, but the leather market is quiet under a light demand from local footwear manufacturers, and the iron trade is dull. A moderate Fall business is looked for in furs, clothing, heavy dry goods, jewelry and articles of luxury generally.

Wholesale trade at Quebec is in fairly satisfactory volume and the retail demand for seasonable goods is normal for this period.

At Toronto wholesale business is still rather quiet, although there are indications of a revival in activity, confidence in the future being stimulated by generally good harvesting results. Distribution at retailers is in liberal volume with a fair call being noted for dry-goods, shoes, groceries, hardware and other staple lines. The weather has been favorable, and if continued a brisk Fall trade is confidently expected.

Hamilton reports that with the large number of visitors in the city for Centennial week the trade in all lines has been very good.

In the Far West and Northwest there is a much improved feeling with the practical certainty of good crops, and merchants are looking forward to an active demand for Fall and Winter merchandise.

Winnipeg reports a substantial increase in general trade, although there has been a falling off of realty operations. The crops are rapidly approaching maturity with general anticipation that the yield will be larger than that of last season.

Calgary reports that the harvesting operations, which have commenced in the south, have stimulated the distribution of wholesale merchandise and that retail trade is well maintained.

Business at Saskatoon has been better than for some time, owing mainly to the large number of visitors to the annual industrial exhibition. Farmers are buying conservatively, but with the large crops about to be harvested it is thought that trade conditions will be placed in better shape than ever before.

Merchants at Edmonton feel confident and look for an active Fall trade.

Gross earnings of all Canadian railroads reporting to date for the first week in August show a decrease of 4.6 per cent as compared with earnings of the same roads for the corresponding period a year ago.

Commercial failures in the Dominion of Canada this week numbered 38 against 31 last week and 33 the same week last year.

Big celebration at Bellingham August 15, all kinds of sports. Take SS. Chippewa excursion at 8:30 a.m. Round trip only $1.50.

AJAX MAKES GOOD ON PACIFIC RUN

Intermediary Vessel Placed in Transpacific Service as an Experiment May Be Followed by Other Ships.

SINGLE-STACKER BACK HERE IN SEPTEMBER

Dodwell & Co. Announce That Blue Funnel Boat Is Returning With Capacity Cargo—To Load Here Outward.

When the big Blue Funnel freighter Ajax made her initial voyage in the transpacific service between the Orient and the North Pacific coast it was admitted to be an experiment on the part of the British company to test the possibilities of building up an independent trade between this coast and the Far East.

In view of the reports received here the impression is gaining ground that the experiment, as far as the Ajax is concerned, has proved an unqualified success, and augurs well for the continuance of the service and the placing of additional steamers on the run to augment the sailings of the Ajax.

At the time the Ajax was dispatched from Liverpool to the Orient with orders to continue her passage across the Pacific, it was generally understood in Liverpool shipping circles that the Holt Line, in the event of the Ajax making good on the intermediary run, was prepared to press into the service her three sister ships, the Achilles, Agamemnon and Deucalion.

Sister Ships are Big Carriers

Although these steamers are old, compared with the modern Blue Funnel leviathans that ply in the regular Liverpool-Victoria service, they are of large tonnage and capable of handling 10,000 tons of freight.

Inbound to this port earlier in June, the Ajax brought practically full cargo in spite of the fact that shipping agents admitted it to be a slack season for vessels bound this way.

On her outward trip July 14, her holds were crammed to the hatches with general freight consigned to ports in the Orient, which fact is all the more remarkable when it is taken into consideration that two other of the regular Blue Funnel liners were loading and discharging on this coast at that particular time.

By the time the steamship Ajax arrives here next month it is probable that definite advices will be received from Liverpool with regard to the intention of the company to establish a regular line of intermediary steamers on the Pacific.

Ajax Returns Next Month

Dodwell & Co., agents of the Blue Funnel line on this coast, announce that the Ajax is loading at ports in the Far East and will shortly commence her second voyage to the Pacific coast, arriving at Victoria about September 25. She is bringing a capacity cargo of the usual Oriental products, and several hundred Chinese passengers. It is anounced at the local offices that in addition to discharging at Victoria the Ajax will return here before sailing outward, to load big shipments of lumber and canned salmon for the Orient. After discharging here she will proceed to Vancouver and Puget Sound to complete, later returning to load, and eventually clearing October 10 for Yokohama.

The regular Blue Funel liner Bellerophon arrived in port this morning from Vancouver, via Comox, to load 1,000 barrels of whale oil, 200,000 feet of lumber, and various other smaller shipments of miscellaneous freight consigned to the United Kingdom. It is expected she will get away on Monday for Seattle and Tacoma to finish loading for the homeward voyage.

Tees Returns to Run

Taking the sailing of the steamer Princess Maquinna to Clayoquot, the steamer Tees was again pressed into service last night, when she steamed for the west coast of Vancouver Island. The Tees will maintain the runs to Clayoquot and Holberg until the return of the Princess Maquinna from Alaska. The Maquinna is due to sail from Vancouver August 28 with members of the International Geological Congress.

PRINCE GEORGE ON WAY SOUTH

Northern Steamship Is Not Thought to Be Seriously Damaged—Will Enter Drydock Soon After Arrival.

Slightly leaking forward, the northern steamship Prince George is now making her way south from Prince Rupert as fast as possible under the circumstances, and upon her arrival here will be immediately drydocked for the purpose of ascertaining the full extent of the damage caused when she went ashore off White Cliff Island on her northern passage.

All kinds or rumors are afloat as to the nature of the injuries sustained by the crack northern flyer, but the officials of the company are unable to give out any definite information in view of lack of details from the ship.

The fact that the Prince George, after floating from her position, continued her passage to Stewart, conclusively proves that the steamer is not extensively hurt below the waterline. Wireless messages flashed from the Digby Island station yesterday stated that the Prince George passed out from Prince Rupert at 9:20 o'clock yesterday morning on her southbound passage as scheduled.

May Go to Vancouver

As she is reported to have a good list of passengers on board, the steamer will, in all likelihood, continue her run to Vancouver, where she is due to arrive tonight, and, in that event, will enter the drydock early on Sunday morning for survey.

Everything will be in readiness upon the arrival of the steamship at Esquimalt. The Chilean bark Ricart de Soler, which occupied the dock during the past two or three days, will be floated out at an early hour this morning. In view of the mishap to the Prince George the usual week-end trip to Seattle has been cancelled. Should the damage prove insignificant every effort will be made to have the Prince George ready to take her regular northern sailing on Monday.

The Prince John is due to sail this morning for the Queen Charlotte Islands.

KESTREL LIBELED FOR CREW'S PAY

Men Who Manned Former Canadian Fishery Cruiser "Plaster" Ship to Secure Back Wages

HONOLULU, Aug. 15.—Alleging that $1,128.94 is due them in wages, and that Captain Tait has refused payment, the six members of the little British steamer Kestrel's crew filed a libel against the vessel, and Deputy U. S. Marshall David Sherwood served the writ of attachment on the captain.

An effort also was made to serve the attachment on the cargo, consisting of sixty tons of copra, which the boat brought in on her last trip from Fanning and Washington Islands, but the attempt failed when it was discovered that the copra had been sold to the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company several days before the writ was issued.

The Kestrel is owned by Armstrong & Armstrong, of London, who purchased Fanning and Washington Islands some months ago, and are using the Kestrel as supply vessel for their insular possessions. On its recent return from the south, the captain discharged the members of his crew, saying he did not expect to make another trip soon and could not pay them for their time ashore. This, the master is said to have asserted, is the cause of their disaffection.

In their petition, however, the men ask for $268.94 in wages, which they declare is owing them for actual service, and which the captain has declined to pay.

DUE ON THIS COAST EARLY NEXT MONTH

The new $1,250,000 liner Congress, just completed at Philadelphia for the Pacific Coast Steamship Company, is now on her voyage to the Pacific Coast, being one of the last steamers that will make the long trip around South America before the completion of the Panama Canal.

By far the largest vessel in coastwise passenger trade, the Congress is also one of the speediest, making on her trial trip more than seventeen marine miles an hour. The new steamer should reach California about the middle of September, and is expected to be in service between San Francisco, San Diego, Los Angeles and Seattle-Tacoma before October 1.

The steamer is 442 feet 6 inches in length, 54 feet 9 inches beam, and 29 feet deep.

Fine Accommodation

The steamer carries luxurious accommodations for 410 first cabin, 106 second cabin and 300 third-class passengers, besides a crew of 175. The lifesaving equipment is ahead of Government requirements, and has been put through the most severe tests. Catering to demands of modern travel for luxury, this steamer has sixteen rooms en-suite with private baths and finished in various styles of mahogany, birdseye maple, oak and creton panels. These rooms will be available at a very slight advance over customary fares.

Children Catered For

An innovation is the large children's playground and dancing pavilion, a room having a clear floor space, unobstructed by pillars, of thirty-five by forty feet. It is purposed to inaugurate a nominal charge for children between the ages of two and five years. For these, a special playground nurse will be provided, and parents may leave their children in the charge of the nurse and be themselves free for better enjoyment of the voyage. The playground will be provided with gymnasium mats and children's games. In the evening the room will be used for dancing by the grown-ups.

The second cabin accommodations are entirely separate from the first cabin, having their own dining room and an entirely separate social hall, together with ample deck space.

The Congress is an oil-burner, and is lighted throughout by electricity.

BUSY SHIPPING PERIOD AHEAD

Quiet Week Will Be Followed by the Arrival of a Large Number of Deep-Sea Craft—Niagara Leads Fleet.

After a rather quiet week, shipping men are looking for a resumption of activity on the ocean waterfront during the next ten days. Within that time at least eight deep-sea steamships are due to reach port and no less than three will make their departure. Making her second voyage to Victoria, the big two-funneled Niagara, of the Canadian-Australian fleet, is now steaming fast from Honolulu, and, with favorable weather conditions, should reach port early on Tuesday morning. On her present voyage from Australia and New Zealand the Niagara is burning oil fuel exclusively, which system is said to be working entirely satisfactorily at greatly decreased cost of operation.

Captain H. A. Morrisby, who was formerly in command of the Makura, is returning to this Coast as master of the Niagara, while Captain John Gibb, who, as commodore of the Canadian-Australian fleet, brought the Niagara here on her maiden trip, is reported to be a passenger on board, bound for England.

Next Wednesday the C. P. R. royal mail transpacific steamship Empress of India, Captain Hailey, will complete her voyage from the Orient. She is bringing a full cargo and a fair list of cabin passengers.

Lonsdale Steaming Up Coast

Under charter to the East Asiatic Company, the British steamer Lord Lonsdale, Captain Foster, is now due at San Francisco from Copenhagen and London, and, unless untoward delay occurs, should make Victoria towards the latter part of the week.

The Osaka Shosen Kaisha liner Mexico Maru is timed to arrive here on Thursday from the Orient, and she will be followed by the Harrison steamer Crown of Castile, Captain McKillop, which is now due at Portland from Liverpool via San Francisco.

Making her first voyage to this Coast, the British steamship Vestalia, Captain Pattie, is also due to arrive during the latter part of next week from Hull and London. She is the first of the regular fleet dispatched by the Royal Mail Company in the service which was inaugurated by chartered vessels. The Vestalia left Yokohama on August 8, but, as she is not very fast, a schedule of eighteen days has been allowed her.

Norwegian Brings Nitrate

Flying the W. R. Grace flag, the Norwegian steamer Tricolor is due to put in an appearance within the next ten days from the West Coast with a part cargo of nitrate consigned to the Victoria Chemical Works and Departure Bay. The big four-masted steamer Sanuki Maru, of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha line, will arrive in port on August 27 on her second voyage of the year from the Far East.

On Tuesday next the O.S.K. liner Seattle Maru will leave the Outer Docks on her outward trip to the Orient. She is now loading on Puget Sound, and by the time she finally clears this port, will have a capacity cargo stowed away in her holds.

Tuesday, August 26, the N. Y. K. steamer Yokohama Maru is scheduled to sail outward, and the following day she will have in her wake the C. P. R. liner Empress of India, both bound for the Orient.

Ten Large Boats for P. & O.

In anticipation of a rush that will tax the passenger and freight facilities of steamship companies, when the Panama Canal is opened, the Peninsular & Oriental Steam Navigation Company, operating a line of ninety-nine steamships, passenger and freight, from London to Japan, China, India, Australia and Africa, has ordered the construction of ten large steamships for trade through the Panama Canal.

Kentra Reaches Dunkirk

With grain from the Pacific Coast, the British steamer Kentra, Captain Turner, is reported to have arrived at Dunkirk, France, on August 9. She brought steel to this port from New York, and subsequently loaded on the American side, clearing San Francisco on May 17 for Europe.

SHUSHANNA ACTS AS BIG MAGNET

Princess Sophia Left Last Night With Big Crowd, Many of Whom Were Heading for Scene of Gold Strike.

At the present time there is an unusual demand at the local steamship offices for transportation to the nearest point of debarkation for the Shushanna diggings, the new El Dorado of the Far North.

All steamships going North from British Columbia and Puget Sound ports are carrying a good percentage of old-timers, who have again been attracted to the North by the recent rich discovery in Alaska. Many left Victoria last night on board the Canadian Pacific steamer Princess Sophia, which cleared prior to midnight for Skagway.

At Vancouver tonight she will pick up a large number of northbound passengers, the majority of whom are heading in the direction of the new goldfields.

A small herd of cattle is being shipped at Vancouver today, and, upon their arrival at Skagway, will be shipped by rail to Whitehorse, and from thence by trail to Shushanna.

The general agent of the C. P. R. at Skagway has forwarded a report to the heads of departments, which states that the latest accounts point to a genuine strike of placer gold thirty-five miles from the Alaska-Yukon boundary, on the American side, at a point between latitude 62 and 63. The report states that the natural and best route to the diggings is via Whitehorse, either by the Klondike trail or by Coffee Creek and Snag River.

OWNERS OF SHIP DEPEND ON CAT

Glenmark's Feline Mascot Factor in Proving Ownership of Abandoned Vessel

An interesting point in maritime law has been raised by the discovery of a live cat on board the abandoned Norwegian steamer Glenmark. It will be recalled that the Glenmark, after having been dismasted, without righting herself from a bad list due to the cargo having shifted, was finally abandoned. The vessel was afterwards sighted by the liner Montezuma, and the tramp steamers Fishpool and Wearpool, a menace to navigation, as she was right in the track of steamers. At the instance of underwriters, H. M. S. Donegal was dispatched to sink or salve the Glenmark; the warship finally towing her into Plymouth. Although the Glenmark had then been floating about for a month or more, a live cat was found on board. It use to be held that a vessel still belonged to the original owners if a live cat or dog was found on board by the salvors, and the question is being discussed in both legal and maritime circles as to whether this still holds good. The cat would seem to be the only hope the original owners of the Glenmark have that the vessel may still be declared to be their property.

"The Sovereign"

1913-1914 "SOVEREIGN" Hot Water Boiler

Made differently from other hot water boilers in the place where a little difference counts for a great deal—the large flared flues and a baffled fire travel fit the "Sovereign" for burning soft coal or wood as well as hard coal.

Hot water boilers having narrow, straight-walled flues in the sections, through which the heat travels on its way to the chimney, will burn hard coal only. The "Sovereign" is a better hard coal burner and a general fuel burner besides.

CROP REPORTS GOVERN MARKET

Trading Light in Early Hours in New York, but Animation Marks the Close—Decline in Prices.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Crop conditions were again a powerful influence in the stock market today. Unfavorable advices received towards the latter part of the session resulted in recessions of 1 to 2 points. The stock market was hesitating and stagnant in the early morning, trading falling more than 50 per cent behind the preceding day and 100 per cent under the middle of the week. There were no movements of importance during the early session.

Lower prices were made in the last hour in the only real animation of the day that was witnessed. Declines embraced numerous issues only remotely connected with agricultural conditions.

Money rates were unchanged, except for thirty days, which was slightly stronger, the result presumably of a less abundant supply. Forecasts indicate a small cash gain for the week.

Bonds evinced a lower trend in sympathy with stocks. Total sales, par value, $1,250,000. Government bonds were unchanged.

MONTREAL STOCKS

MONTREAL, Aug. 15.—Stocks prominent in the sudden upturn of the previous afternoon experienced a reaction in the late trading today and net changes at the close, in contrast to the unbroken list of gains on Thursday, showed more recessions than advances.

The general tone of the market in the morning trading was strong. Richelieu, with a four point rise from the previous day, moved to a point higher at 112, and while stock began to be supplied more freely at that level, the morning close at 111 showed the previous day's rise unimpaired. Ottawa Power jumped four points to 162 Shawinigan 1¼ to 132¼, Iron rose ½ to 48, Winnipeg Railway 1⅛, Toronto Railway 1 to 140½. Soo sold in a broken lot at 133⅛. C. P. R. was 1½ lower and Brazilian ½ lower, the only issues of prominence on the reactionary side.

LONDON EXCHANGE

LONDON, Aug. 15.—Money was easy to obtain and discount rates were quiet today. With the Paris bourse closed and the week-end near, the stock market was quiet and reactionary under profit-taking. Copper shares, home rails and Brazilian stocks were the most affected and consols lost a sixteenth. The undertone, however, continues sound, and the setback is only temporary.

American securities were quiet and featureless during the forenoon. Prices ranged within a small fraction of parity until the early afternoon when the list eased off under selling. The market hardened on light buying in the last hour and the closing was quiet and steady.

Bank of England Statement

LONDON, Aug. 15.—The weekly Bank of England statement is as follows: Total reserve increase, £2,437,000; circulation decreased, £481,000; bullion increased, £2,056,256; other securities increased, £252,000; other deposits increased, £2,378,000; public deposits decreased, £9,000; notes reserve increased, £2,363,000; government securities decreased £300,000. The proportion of the bank's reserve to liability is 58.07 per cent. The discount is 4½ per cent.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Sikh in British Columbia

Sir—Will you kindly allow me space to speak on a very unpopular subject: The Sikh in British Columbia? Who is the Sikh? A native of the country which has been called the brightest jewel in the British Crown. The Sikh is not a man from the lower plains of India, he is the Indian Highlander. We all know the place accorded the Scottish Highlander for his great bravery. The Sikh, too, is a brave military man, who, since he became subject to Great Britain, has been a most loyal British subject. He fought bravely in the time of the great Indian Mutiny in 1857 to hold India for Great Britain.

Some thousands of these loyal British subjects have had ambition enough to come to this part of the Empire for the same purpose as many another enterprising man has come; but he is not welcome. His bravery and loyalty can be appreciated historically, but he is supposed to stay at home to work out his own economic salvation. Not supposed to go elsewhere, as any British subject has the privilege of doing.

To what does Britain owe her greatness? You know the reply given by our revered Queen Victoria when the question was put to her by the African Prince, how she raised the Bible and gave God the glory. Now are we glorifying God in our not allowing the Sikhs who are here to have any home life, for the families of those who are here are not permitted to come?

Why is Britain acknowledged as the greatest colonizing power in the world? Is it not because of her exercise of the principles of righteousness, justice, toleration and mercy? She has learned many lessons in the great school of experience. We in Canada are today reaping the benefit of those lessons in our independent form of government.

Why did Great Britain lose her great colony, the thirteen states? Because of her unjust infliction of unlawful taxes, because of her unjust attitude towards her loyal subjects. The great Earl Chatham fell in a fit on the floor of the House of Lords, loudly declaiming against the folly of the unjust taxes. His warning was not acted upon then, but subsequent events soon verified its truth. It is world-wide history that our great nation learned lessons of wisdom in the great school of bitter experience.

India is regarded as the brightest jewel in the British Crown, yet her enterprising sons are not welcome to make a home in Great Britain's greatest colony. Where is British justice and fair play?

Much fault is found because the Naval Bill was defeated, and the contribution was not made to the strengthening of the Empire. Is it conducive to the strengthening of the Empire to estrange the largest part of its population? The news of the treatment of Sikhs spreads far. It is well to remember also that he belongs to the Aryan race.

The churches give money to send the gospel to India. What kind of a commentary on the gospel is the treatment accorded the Sikhs? How does it stand in the presence of Him whom we profess to follow? If the gospel had not been brought to our forefathers long long ago, we would not be what we are today. Now in this age when we are in the enjoyment of so many of the gifts of the Great Giver, He is being crowded out, and His great principles of justice and mercy are too often trampled upon by those who profess to be governed by Him. Alas for us, are we not dishonoring and denying our Master when we treat our Indian brother as he is being treated in British Columbia?

(MRS.) ISABEL BROAD.

The State and the Individual

Sir,—An editorial reference, in your issue of the 14th inst., to the fact that the commercial prosperity of Great Britain, the greatest commercial nation in the world, is due entirely to private enterprise, reminds me of an opinion expressed by Herbert Spencer to the effect that the general superiority of public works in Great Britain over those of Continental countries was in a large measure due to the comparative freedom from the "infliction" of paternal government of the inhabitants of that island, and their consequent greater enterprise than that possessed by European peoples accustomed to constant government supervision. He extended this theory to Britain's commercial achievements also, and would have opined that her lack of a Minister of Commerce and a commercial supremacy were probably by no means merely coincidental.

Everyone will allow that a boy taught to do things for himself will develop much quicker and become more energetic and self-reliant than one who is "waited on hand and foot." This holds true with communities as with individuals. It stands to reason that people trained to look to the Government for aid and direction on every conceivable occasion will do very little for themselves.

This fact appears urgently in need of emphasis in these days. The people of the Continent of North America pride themselves on their liberty and self-reliance. They are in danger of losing everything but the mere form of either. A little while ago an article appeared in a well-known American magazine from the pen of President Wilson under the title of "The New Meaning of Government." The writer's idea was that the Government of a country should act as a kind of nurse and schoolmistress to the people; teaching them what they should and should not do for their own good; directing their energies in every direction; "making the most" of a country, as the writer expressed it. It is surprising how often we read in the daily papers and magazines of what the "Government should do" in regard to the encouragement of this enterprise or the development of the other, the mitigation of some social evil or correction of some folly.

We venture to suggest that it is not the duty of a Government to develop a country or to aid an industry, but solely to "protect the state from enemies within and from enemies without, i.e., to preserve law and order, and provide means of defence against foreign invaders." Anything beyond this is outside the legitimate province of Government, and an unwarrantable infringement upon private liberty. We hold the opinion that Government interference with trade is unnnecessary, unfair, futile and harmful.

In the first place, state aid of an industry, however desirable its growth may be, is unnecessary because the necessary stimulus can be supplied just as well by private enterprise. Take the case, for instance, of a dock or a series of docks, required at a point to accommodate the rapidly growing trade. Why should the Government need to undertake work of this kind? If a dock will pay at a given point, it is to the interest of the holders of capital concerned to build one themselves. If they have not enterprise enough to embark on a profitable undertaking, they will never attain commercial preeminence backed by any amount of state aid. If such an enterprise will not pay, no Government can afford, or has any right, to take it up.

Secondly, state aid to commerce is unfair, because it benefits one section of the community at the expense of the whole. The wealthy capitalist, for instance, gains the advantage at the expense of every tax-payer in the country, rich or poor. Another capitalist, not directly interested in the scheme, possibly injured by it, has to pay in taxation money which he could well afford to invest in his own business. This kind of thing, whatever else it may be, is not business. The wealthy merchant or corporation who desires that others not concerned should pay for their success deserves nothing but contempt.

Government aid to commerce is futile because, as pointed out above, it defeats its own ends in the long run by tending to lessen the possession of individual self-reliance and enterprise amongst the members of a business community.

Lastly, as to the evils resulting from that form of government, interference with trade, protective tariffs, and unbusiness-like restriction of the natural interchange of commodities, volumes might be written.

Those of your readers who are interested in political problems would find a perusal of Herbert Spencer's essays on "Man Versus the State" well worth their time. Two copies are on the shelves at the Victoria Public Library.
